STRIKE HALTS WAR WORK IN 14 FACTORIES

8,000 Employes Walk Out In Dispute Between Rival Detroit Unions.

THREE BIG PLANTS HIT

Labor Rivalry Blamed For Hampering Work In Whole City Area.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The War Labor Board today condemned a jurisdictional strike of 8,000 Detroit mechanics as a "serious interruption of vital war production" and requested that the work stoppage cease and that the men involved return to their jobs.

DETROIT -- A work "holiday" called by the Mechanics Educational Society of America halted war production in three large plants and 11 smaller factories in the Detroit area today.

The walkouts, which made more than 8,000 employes idle, was called by the society in protest against alleged interference with the union's organization activities by the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Matthew Smith, president of the MESA and of the recently-organized Confederated Unions of America, threatened to call out 6,000 additional Detroit workers and 30,000 MESA members at Toledo and Cleveland until the War Labor Board "came to its senses."

"We're going to see if there is any law and order in this town," Smith declared. "We want to find out if a man can join the labor organization of his own choosing."

The three large plants closed by the so-called "holiday" were Nash - Kelvinator corporation, Eureka Vacuum Cleaner company, and the Michigan Tool company, most of the 11 smaller firms also were engaged in vital tool and die work.

Oscar L. Bard, president of the Michigan Tool company, said loss of items produced by one division of his plant virtually would halt work in most essential war plants in the Detroit area.

"We have been striving for months to reach peak production figures," he added, "and just when we get there this has to happen."

The rivalry between the MESA and the UAW CIO flared when members of the former tried to organize maintenance workers of the Briggs Manufacturing company. Smith charged that a MESA committee called at the Briggs Aircraft plant on an NLRB matter and was evicted by members of the UAW CIO. Three of the MESA men, he said were slugged.

NEW 'SCHOOL'

Gas Ration Registrars Called Into Session Tuesday.

All volunteer registrars who will receive applications for supplemental gasoline ration books "B" and "C" have been called to another instruction session in John Simpson Junior high school auditorium at 7:30 Tuesday evening.

W. J. Spreng, chairman of the gasoline panel of the county rationing board, announced today that further lessons on "what to do and how" are necessary in the handling of applications for gasoline allowances beyond the basis "A" mileage applications.

Gasoline registration starts Thursday in city and county schools.

SQUIRREL BITES THREE, KILLED

Victim Bags Rodent After It Follows Him Into House.

AKRON—(U.P.)—A squirrel that attacked three persons at Copley, O., met death at the hands of the third of his victims.

The large fox squirrel attacked one person three weeks ago and later a woman G. C. Heyer was attacked near his home. He beat the squirrel off but it followed him into the house and jumped at his throat.

Heyer got his gun and shot the squirrel after it had retreated to a tree.

WARNS ON GAS HOARDING

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— State Fire Marshal Ray Gill urges local officials to warn Ohioans against storing gasoline in anticipation of rationing. He cautioned that the "person who monkeys with gasoline in ordinary containers is flirting with death and destruction. An explosive power one gallon of gasoline is equal to 83 sticks of 40 per cent dynamite."

Here's How British Are Beating Germans, Italians In Desert

Axis supply dumps behind lines are blasted by Allied bombers, burning precious stocks of gasoline, oil and ammunition

Overwhelming of German and Italian armies on the desert of North Africa by the British Eighth army has been largely a matter of careful planning, utmost co-operation by air and ground forces, huge supplies of equipment and fighting courage. The manner in which the Allies have made the Axis forces turn tail is illustrated by the photos above. Allied planes have blasted Axis troop and tank concentrations, supply dumps and ships. Brilliant planning by Gen. Sir Harold Alexander and his field commander, Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, was culminated by the smashing assaults by ground forces on the enemy defenses.

U. S. TANKS PRAISED

Infantry Paces Struggle In Major Allies Victory In North Africa.

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
(U.P. Staff Correspondent)

BRITISH BATTLE HEADQUARTERS, IN THE EGYPTIAN DESERT, Nov. 7, Noon.—It is now possible to give a step-by-step account of how Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery and his Polyglot Eighth army aided by a vast assembly of British and American airplanes brought about the collapse of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's highly touted Afrika Korps and its reinforcing Italian columns.

The original attack the first night of the battle was launched by the 51st division of Australians, New Zealanders, and South Africans against the north end of the Alamein line, supported by heavy concentrations of tanks.

Simultaneously, other British divisions including the 44th and 50th, plus Indians, Free French and Greeks, attacked along the center of the southern sector of the 30-mile-long line.

The purpose was to contain the Nazis' 21st panzer division.

After nine days and nights of continuous fighting, these forces had driven bulges in the Axis lines, one running parallel with the Alexandria-Matruh railroad near the coast, the other eight miles to the south, which more or less joined. Three days later, infantry sappers had sufficiently cleared these bulges of mines and had dug in with enough defensive anti-tank gun positions, to permit Montgomery to launch his tanks in full force.

Infantry again went in, and throughout last Tuesday night, armored units, including American-made General Sherman, General Lee and General Grant tanks, with the heaviest artillery support delivered a blow between the center bulge and Tel El Aeaqur which paralyzed Rommel's defenses.

By this time, Rommel had brought up his 25th armored division from the south in an effort to form a solid right of steel with his 15th division, while the Italian

BARES BATTLE

Navy Reports Sub-Convoy Struggle In Atlantic.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.) An Allied convoy recently fought a three-day battle with an enemy submarine pack in the North Atlantic, the navy disclosed today, and at least one Allied merchantman was sunk.

The fact that the battle had been fought with depth charges and torpedoes churning the ocean for so many hours on end, was given out by the navy incidental to its announcement of the sinking of the merchant vessel, a medium sized craft of Panamanian registry.

There were 40 survivors of this ship who were landed at an Allied port after four days in life rafts and lowboats. A neutral ship picked them up and brought them to shore and they since have returned to this country.

DAR and Marian Anderson Settle Dispute, Plan Concert.

NEW YORK —(INS) — The feud between Marian Anderson, Negro contralto and the Daughters of the American Revolution was patched up temporarily today.

Miss Anderson accepted the invitation of the DAR to give a concert in Constitution hall Washington, D. C. for the benefit of army emergency relief, but made it clear that her acceptance should not be considered a precedent for future appearances in the hall. She also insisted that there be no segregation of races at the performance.

British Strike Beyond Matruh As Foe Flees

RAF Bombers Raid Genoa to Upset Morale, Stall Axis Supplies.

(By United Press)

LONDON—A strong formation of Royal Air Force bombers, smashing at Italy to undermine Fascist morale and hamper efforts to reinforce the hard-pressed North African Axis forces, raided Genoa again last night it was announced today.

The raid was said to have been "concentrated and successful." Only two of the force of heavy bombers that made the 1,500 mile round-trip flight across the Alps, failed to return.

It was the first time the big RAF planes had been out on a night mission since Oct. 24, when they wound up a series of four raids in three days on northern Italy's industrial triangle.

Genoa, the chief port of embarkation for Axis reinforcements bound for Tripoli and North Africa, was bombed Oct. 22 and 23, when widespread destruction was admitted by the Italian radio.

Huge four-engined planes, including Stirlings and Lancasters which carry up to seven tons of bombs battered Genoa in another "cascade raid." They flew through difficult weather conditions going to and from Italy, but over Genoa, conditions were described as good.

The bombers were said to have lighted their targets with huge fires started by incendiary bombs. It was believed that they had saturated the ground defenses, putting most of the anti-aircraft batteries out of action, since only two planes were lost.

The raids were timed to strike

Italians Wait for Capture After Nazis Abandon Them In Egypt.

(By Associated Press)

CAIRO — With 100,000 of Rommel's total of some 140,000 desert troops captured or trapped and his tank strength grievously crippled, the British chase of the broken and tattered Axis forces swept on today past Matruh, Egyptian port almost halfway to the Libyan border from the starting point of the Allied drive.

The headlong flight of the once-proud Axis Africa corps continued at a rapid clip, the British reported in a communique which listed 20,000 Germans and Italians already captured along with 350 tanks seized in addition to hundreds of others knocked out, and 400 guns and uncounted thousands of vehicles in the hands of the army of the Nile.

Far behind and mostly inland from the coastal road were six Italian divisions left in the lurch when Rommel pulled stakes on the El Alamein front. Mussolini's abandoned men, in a bad way without food and water, were reported waiting meekly to be picked up when the British could get around to them.

Today's British war bulletin said the Axis remnants attempted a stand at Fuka, about 50 miles east of Matruh but was crushed and from there the main body of Rommel's forces was pushed on beyond Matruh.

The figures given officially on Axis losses in manpower were considered here to be extremely conservative and estimates on how much manpower Rommel had left were lacking, but in the words of

IN BALANCE: See Control of Pacific Hinging on Solomons

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Navy men today asserted that the see-saw battle for the southern Solomons may decide the balance of sea power in the Pacific and foreshadow the length of the bitter American-Japanese war, now entering its 12th month.

Although the land battle on Guadalcanal held the attention of the nation at present, these sources contended that outcome of the struggle would depend on the ability of the opposing sides to control the sea lanes.

On land the American forces seemed to be holding their own after repulsing several strong Japanese counter-attacks in which they inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

However, further naval-air action was expected in the South Pacific, and any large scale action involving surface ships might well shift the balance of sea power now held by the Japanese.

Importance of warships and supply vessels in the Pacific war theater was indicated by the fact that American planes and submarines have concentrated on smashing Nipponese sea communications over a triangle stretching from the Aleutians to the shores of China and Australia.

Outcome of the current land battle on Guadalcanal depended on this nation's ability to move supplies and reinforcements over thousands of miles of water while keeping the Japanese from resuming their land, sea and air attacks on the island.

Likewise Japan's ability to continue its present widespread activities might be decided by American attacks on enemy ships hundreds and possibly thousands of miles from the scene of action and in further battles in the South Pacific.

Despite terrific losses in ships, planes and troops the Japanese were believed to be regrouping their forces for another large-scale attempt to oust the Americans from their Solomons positions.

To date the Nipponese have been unable to do this mainly because the United States has held

CHANGES FEW IN OFFICIAL COUNT

Election Board Completes Final Check, Total Vote Stands at 20,650.

The official count in Tuesday's election, as revealed today by the board of elections, showed few, and in most cases no changes, in figures tabulated by the election board Tuesday night.

In no event had the contests been close enough that a material change in results had been expected. The total official vote for the county was 20,650.

Statistics, as reported today, show the following totals the first figures given being the Mansfield vote and the second figure, the grand total for Richland county including its cities and villages.

For governor, Bricker 6,477—12,239 McSweeney, 4,747—8,411; for lieutenant governor, Herbert, 6,115—11,415, Nye 4,516—8,038, for secretary of state, Hummel, 5,534—10,385, Sweeney 5,134—9,101; for treasurer of state, Ebright, 5,833—10,955, Cox, 4,719—8,347.

For attorney general, Herbert, 5,840—10,917, Duffy, 4,703—8,352; for congress at large, Bender, 5,697—10,588, Young, 4,955—8,867; for district congress, McGregor, 6,363—11,655, Anderson, 4,790—8,159, for supreme court January 1, Dixon, 3,517—6,104, Williams, 4,321—8,376.

Immediate Purchase of Ten Air Alarm Sirens Authorized

Ten air raid signal alarm sirens to serve Mansfield and vicinity will be purchased immediately under instructions issued last night by the Civilian Defense Council to Service Director Fred B. Wolff, custodian of government property issued to defense units and of federally-related defense funds.

Applauding the "thorough research and complete report" of the technical committee headed by James A. McDermid the council took immediate action on the committee's recommendations. Recent tests of factory whistles and other alarm mediums proved them to be inadequate, the committee reported.

Cost of the sirens will approximate $300 each, installed, with some slight additional expenses for installation of sirens in outlying districts.

To consolidate the activity of the utilities committee Ernest Adams, city electrician, was chosen as administrator.

Mrs. Freda Gorby, municipal court deputy clerk, was appointed secretary to the council.

Charles Beelman submitted the report of his emergency feeding and housing committee, listing food stations and temporary refuges throughout the city to be used in event of an air raid or other enemy attack.

"This is not a one-man job" declared Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, defense co-ordinator, in instructing committee chairmen to more actively carrying on the duties charged to their respective committees.

George E. Sherman, commercial teacher of Mansfield Senior high school, advised the council that members of the stenographic classes will be detailed in larger numbers to work certain hours in the defense offices, third floor of City Hall, to gain practical experience and at the same time accomplish much of the paper work necessary to a more effective defense organization.

RESCUE GUNMEN

Police Thwart Bank Holdup, Then Save Bandits.

CLEVELAND - (AP) Five policemen crashed into a bank yesterday to thwart a hold-up, then had to rescue two gunmen from enraged bank employes.

The officers drove their cruiser through the locked doors of the Central National bank and without firing a shot, captured the two men who were armed with four pistols each and a shotgun.

The pair was identified by police as Nick Venter, 24, and Fred Ector, 20.

The employes, six women and four men—who had been bound, gagged and roughly treated by the gunmen, then attacked them and broke Ector's nose. The officers' job of quieting the employes took longer than their capture of the would-be robbers and saving $63,000 in the vault.

JUST LOOKING!

Italian Officers Say They Were Just Watching Desert Battle.

CAIRO—(AP)—Two high-ranking Italian officers captured in the Egyptian desert turned and fretted today because, they explained to their British captors, they were sent to the front as observers of British methods and not as combatants.

"This is an outrage," one of them complained. "We were not fighting, we were just looking."

IT WOULD TAKE JAPS FULL YEAR

Steel Industry Tops Foes Annual Capacity In One Month.

NEW YORK - (U.P.) - America's steel industry broke all monthly production records during October and turned out more steel than Japan can produce in a full year, the American Iron & Steel Institute's monthly report disclosed today.

Domestic steel mills produced 7,584,864 tons of steel ingots and castings during October, or 385,000 tons in excess of Japan's annual capacity.

The industry operated at an average of 100.1 per cent of rated capacity during October, compared with 96.5 per cent in September and 98.9 per cent in October last year.

SEEK TO CURB SEWER BLOCK

City Officials Draft Plan For $8,000 Line In Sycamore, West Fifth Area.

To relieve a "bottle-neck" in the storm water drainage system in the Sycamore street-West Fifth area, Service Director Fred B. Wolff and Engineer W. C. Statler are drafting plans for a 30-inch storm water relief sewer in that neighborhood.

Council will be asked to appropriate about $8,000 for the project which will extend in the rear of Sycamore street from West Fifth to Touby's run near the B. & O. railroad tracks.

At present there is a 20 inch section in the storm sewer draining that area that causes a backing-up of rainwater after heavy storms or during thaws following heavy snowfalls.

MILITARY TAKES OVER RAILROAD

Operate Lines at Painesville as Strike Ties Up Work.

PAINESVILLE — (U.P.) — Military police and railway operating troops today took over operation of the Fairport, Painesville and Eastern railroad which had been tied up for one day by an unauthorized walkout of 40 service and maintenance workers.

Col. J. C. Daly said that the troops were acting as agents of the federal government to make certain that supplies reached "two vital war plants."

The immediate cause of yesterday's walkout was dismissal of Frank Dickerson, a yardmaster, workers said.

CELEBRATE: Stalin Promises New Blows on Red Anniversary

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—The Russians celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution today with encouraging reports from defense fronts and the assurance by Premier Stalin that new Soviet counterblows soon would fall upon Hitler's battle-depleted armies.

"We can and must clear the Hitlerite filth from our Soviet soil," Stalin declared in an order of the day.

While tension mounts in the fighting zones, the war leader said, the Soviet people have emerged from their trials with honor "and are filled with an unshakeable faith in victory."

He said more than 8,000,000 invaders already had been put out of action and that the day was not far off when the German legions—"watered down with Rumanians, Hungarians, Italians and Finns"—would feel the force of fresh Red army blows.

Following up a statement yesterday that the Allies would open a second front "sooner or later," Stalin gravely acknowledged gains made by the Germans since June through the concentration of forces against Stalingrad and the Caucasus.

"The Red army is carrying the full weight of the war against Hitlerite Germany and its accomplices," he said. "By its self-sacrificing struggle against the Fascist army it has won the love and respect of all freedom-loving peoples of the world."

WHAT? BACK SO SOON?
YES, I AM TO DRIVE CAPTAIN VAN'S CAR
BEFORE YOU START OUT I'D BETTER GIVE YOU A TEST TO FIND OUT JUST HOW MUCH YOU KNOW ABOUT REPAIRING YOUR CAR YOU MAY HAVE A BREAK-DOWN ON THE ROAD
DON'T BOTHER ABOUT THAT, JERRY
IF ANYTHING GOES WRONG, I'LL JUST CALL A REPAIRMAN
TILLIE, I'M AFRAID YOU'RE NOT TAKING YOUR NEW POSITION SERIOUSLY ENOUGH. THERE'S A LOT OF RESPONSIBILITY ATTACHED TO IT!
THERE'S NOTHING TO DRIVING CAPTAIN VAN AROUND HIS CAR
NO- NOT AS LONG AS EVERYTHING IS WORKING ALL RIGHT. BUT SUPPOSE YOU HAD TROUBLE WITH THE CAR WHILE YOU WERE OUT ON THE ROAD
THAT COULD HAPPEN
ALL RIGHT. SUPPOSE YOU HAD A FLAT · WOULD YOU KNOW HOW TO CHANGE THE TIRE?
OF COURSE, I WOULD. BUT I'D WAIT TILL SOME MAN CAME ALONG AND DID IT FOR ME
IT'S A RATHER THREATENING-LOOKING DAY TO GO OUT IN AN OPEN CAR, SIR
OH, WE'LL GET BY, ALL RIGHT
WHAT'S THE TROUBLE? WHY HAVE WE STOPPED?
SOMETHING HAS GONE WRONG WITH THE MOTOR, SIR
BANG
I'LL GET BY, ALL RIGHT
BANG BANG
I SAY, CAN'T YOU GET THAT MOTOR REPAIRED?
I THINK I HAVE DISCOVERED THE TROUBLE, SIR
BANG
IT HAS STOPPED RAINING
THE MOTOR IS ALL RIGHT NOW, SIR
BANG BANG
I NOTICED YOU MANAGED TO KEEP HAMMERING ON SOMETHING AS LONG AS IT RAINED SO YOU COULD STAY UNDER SHELTER
YOU OUGHT TO BE COURT-MARTIALED FOR THAT - BUT INSTEAD I'LL GIVE YOU CREDIT FOR USING YOUR HEAD
YES, SIR
BOY! AM I GLAD TO GET BACK FROM DRIVING THE CAPTAIN'S CAR AND AWAY FROM THE MECHANICAL WORK DOWN AT THE GARAGE! GOSH, I DON'T WANT TO SEE ANOTHER MACHINE FOR A WEEK
WHEW, I'M TIRED! AND WILL I REST!
HI, TILLIE JUST THE GIRL I WANT TO SEE
SOMETHING HAS GONE WRONG WITH MY RADIO, WILL YOU REPAIR IT?
OH, TILLIE, THE TOASTER DOES N'T WORK
TILLIE, THIS CLOCK WON'T RUN, WILL YOU FIX IT?
WELL, THE NEXT COURSE I TAKE WILL BE ONE TO TEACH ME TO FORGET HOW TO FIX THINGS

ATA BOY, CHIRPEE - HONEST, YOU SING BETTER'N A RADIO DOES
HUH - THE LITTLE FOOL IS LAUGHIN' NOW, BUT I'LL FIX HER MANGY SPARROW - IF SHE CAN HAVE FUN WITH HER PET BIRD, I CAN HAVE FUN WITH MY PET CAT!
DARRELL McCLURE
STOP HOPPING AROUND, YOU LITTLE FOOL - I'M JUST TAKING YOU TO VISIT A POOR, HUNGRY CAT - IT WANTS TO HEAR YOU SING ONE OF YOUR LOVELY SONGS
DON'T LIE TO ME, YOU BLOOD-THIRSTY MONGREL - YOU'RE NOT TAKING ANNIE'S BIRD TO SHOW TO YOUR MOTHER - YOU'RE TAKING IT TO THAT OTHER OLD CAT!!
STOP YOUR SNIVELING, YOU BIG LUMMOX - AND REMEMBER I HAVE MY EYE ON YOU - IF ANY HARM COMES TO THIS LITTLE BIRD, YOU'LL WISH YOU HAD DIED IN THE CRADLE GLORYOSKY, BUT IT'S GRAND THE WAY CHIRPEE IS SINGIN' SO SWEET AN' LOUD TODAY! YOU'D THINK IT WAS HIS BIRTHDAY OR SOMETHIN'.
DARRELL McCLURE
- I TELL YOU LITTLE ANNIE IS IN DANGER - MR. AND MRS. SMUDGE HATE THE GROUND THE CHILD WALKS ON AND THERE IS NOTHING THEY WOULDN'T DO TO GET RID OF HER —
MRS. RANCE TRUSTS THEM - SHE THINKS THEY'RE A FINE, HONEST, TENDER-HEARTED COUPLE WHO WOULDN'T HARM A FLY - THEY'VE BEEN FOOLING HER FOR MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS!
YOU'RE RIGHT, DEBBY - THEY'RE A PAIR OF DANGEROUS HYPOCRITES WHO HAVE ALWAYS BEEN ACTING A LIE - BUT DON'T WORRY, JUSTICE WILL OVER-TAKE THEM IN SPITE OF THEIR CUNNING
HIDE, ZERO! HERE COMES HORACE - IF HE SEES US, HE'LL COME AN' TRY TO ACT FRIENDLY, 'CAUSE HIS MOTHER TOLD HIM HE'S GOTTA PRETEND TO BE NICE TO US
DARRELL McCLURE
IT'S A SIGHT FOR SORE EYES TO SEE YOU AGAIN - LOOKING AS HEALTHY AS A YOUNG GIRL
THANK YOU, TIM - IT'S A JOY TO SEE YOUR HONEST, FRIENDLY FACE AGAIN
IT'S MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS SINCE YOU LOST YOUR-- ER - HEALTH — MANY'S THE HOUR I SPENT COOPED UP IN THIS LITTLE CAGE, THINKING ABOUT YOU - WISHING YOU WELL -
YOU WERE DOING A HARD, USEFUL WORK, TIM - LIVING - HELPING PEOPLE - WHILE I WASTED THE PRECIOUS YEARS, THINKING OF NOBODY - HELPING NOBODY - JUST A SELFISH, OLD WOMAN SHEDDING FOOLISH TEARS -
YOU COULD NEVER BE SELFISH - I'VE KNOWN YOU FOR A LONG, LONG TIME — YOU WERE ILL - HELPLESS - NOW, EVERYONE IN TOWN IS REJOICING TO SEE YOU WELL AGAIN

BROADWAY

Manhattan Nights.

One of Broadway's favorite legends will be revised almost beyond recognition in the next fortnight. Since the beginning of nightlife, visiting movie heroes and millionaire playboys and college lads and nice young men with futures have bewailed the cruel fate that made chorines and showgirls so partial to musicians. The man on the bandstand always had it all over the man in the street when it came to wooing and winning the prettiest lady in the ensemble. As a matter of fact, one famous and very wealthy gent about town once uttered, bitterly and cynically, the really classic admission of defeat: "Every time I kiss a blond I taste a saxophone."

Kilgallen

* * *

Now with the growing scarcity of male musicians, one of the town's less timorous cafe impersarios, Frank Bonacchini, is about to launch a Noble Experiment at his Coq Rouge. On Friday, the 13th, he will present Ruth Cleary and her "all-girl society" dance orchestra on the podium at his establishment. A fifth avenue beautician will tend the tresses and tell them what shades of make-up to use. A famous couturiere will dress them in expensive dinner suits, the idea apparently being to make every girl in the band look as if she had just stepped out of a bandbox.

* * *

Just as the war is bringing about an unusual demand for pretty girls who play a melody, so, too, has the war re-written the script of almost everyone's life.—Not only in the vital ways of which we are all aware, but in a thousand little ways besides.

Take the case of Martha Raye, the cinema comedienne of the wide mouth and classic legs. Martha has been married three times, but none of her marriages have worked out well, to put it mildly. Twice, she obtained rapid-fire divorces.

The third time, she was on the brink of getting a divorce from Neil Lang, after a big wedding and right on the heels of a short honeymoon, when Neil entered the armed services.

Miss Raye, with the aid of an advisor or two, decided that divorce would be undiginifed under the circumstances, so she announced that she would remain Mrs. Lang for the duration. There is no bitterness between Neil and Martha, they say nice things about each other; but they rarely exchange postcards.

* * *

Shortly after their estrangement, Martha met a dancer—Nick Condos; they looked at each other once and almost simultaneously shouted: "You're for me!"

And it's been that way ever since. Martha and her Nick are inseparable, and there's nothing lukewarm about their devotion. In fact, if there were no war going on, and if Neil weren't in the army, you can bet that Mrs. Lang would have been Mrs. Condos, lo, these many months.

But in spite of the impediments to their complete happiness Martha was consoled by the fact that at least she and Nick could spend a great deal of time together. Until—like lightning from the sky—Nick got his "greetings" from Uncle Sam. He was 1A in the army.

* * *

Ever since he got his classification, Martha has been so, so blue "I'm proud of you," she'd tell him, "and I'm happy that you're going into the army. As long as you're somewhere in this country, I'll be able to visit you. But, oh—what will I do if you go overseas?"

The separation Martha and Nick talked about, even wept about, has finally materialized. The other night at Leon and Eddie's they held a farewell tete-a-tete. It was very sad and quite touching—but not exactly as anticipated.

For Nick, who is still waiting to be inducted, was wearing a nice gray suit instead of khaki. And far from his consoling Martha, she was consoling him, telling him not to worry. You see, one of them was leaving the next day for overseas—but that one was Martha, and not the boy who is 1A in the army and vice versa in her heart.

He's still here. Martha has gone with Kay Francis and Carole Landis across the ocean—to sing for the soldiers in England!

HOLLYWOOD.

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Today's Cinderella story is about a poor little gal named Lassie who didn't have to get rich and famous to get a fur coat.

Lassie started out with hers, the way most collies do.

Aside from that asset, Lassie a few months ago was just as undiscovered and obscure as any million - heiress who isn't doing war work. She was romping around on a ranch, getting burrs in her fur and wearing out her beautiful ruff. Far from being discovered, Lassie was all "washed up," had been looked over and passed up, and was already put out to pasture at the tender age of three.

Coons

This was tough on Lassie whose position deserved better. Lassie's owner, Rudd Weatherwax used to work for dog-trainer Rennie Renfro. Then Rudd bought Lassie, paying $10 for her, and went into the business himself. That made Lassie No 1 in the Weatherwax kennel. But not in the movies.

Rudd took her around, but they weren't using collies this season. Rudd eventually added 40 more dogs to his outfit, and all 40 of them got movie jobs of one kind and another—but not Lassie. So Lassie went out to the ranch, got burrs in her fur and wore out her beautiful ruff.

She might be there yet if Metro hadn't decided to make "Lassie Come Home," Eric Knight's story about a dog and a boy. It was about a particular dog, a collie. Fred Wilcox, the young director, looked everywhere for the right collie. They even had a collie show at a local athletic field, and after all was barked, yelped and done they still hadn't their one dog. They looked in New York and Boston and practically everywhere the Scarlett O'Hara search had gone, but no dog.

Rudd Weatherwax heard about it, naturally, and he brought in Lassie. Wilcox was interested, but Lassie wasn't at her best. The burrs were combed out, but Lassie's ruff was worn. No, said Wilcox, he'd look some more. Well, to cut it short, Rudd nursed the ruff to health and beauty, and next time Wilcox wondered where Lassie had been all his life. Talent searches generally end in Hollywood just like this one.

MARINES TELL ABOUT SAVAGE NIGHT BATTLE

Reveal How They Held Field On Guadalcanal as Japs Chanted, Used Fireworks.

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—Two United States marine captains from Toledo, O., on furlough from the Solomons, told today how their parachute detachment held Henderson Field against a fierce night attack by 5,000 Japanese who chanted threats and lighted the jungle with roman candles and blue parachute flares.

"I think if we had lost that night," said Capt. James H. Myers, 32, "that we wouldn't be on Guadalcanal today."

The main Japanese attack on the field, he said, was one of the crucial developments of the entire battle.

"My detachment," he said, "was holding a small hill overlooking the airport, supposedly a rest area. But it happened to be the final protection line for the field and the Japs hit our post with everything they had.

"They came running through the jungle, chanting 'U. S. marines be dead tomorrow' while they beat time by slapping their rifle butts. They were firing red roman candles and blue parachute flares. It was the wierdest thing I've ever seen."

Myers and P. W. Densman, 26, were with the first parachute division. They were the first parachute detachment to see action in this war, but they went into battle from landing boats, not planes.

They said they did not wish to be regarded as heroes.

"The real heroes of the Solomons," they said, "are dead. We are just the lucky ones."

Densman said the Japanese were savage fighters.

"They had an utter contempt of life and the enemy," he said. "Most of them refused to surrender and many of those who attempted to give up were shot by their comrades.

"At night they would swim, naked and unarmed, to Gavatu, grab up any weapon handy, even picks or shovels, and charge the American outposts like berserk animals."

He told of a group of Japanese who put an American tank out of commission although armed only with a crowbar and a bottle of gasoline.

All of the officers expect to return to the south Pacific when their furloughs end. Densman underwent an appendectomy before returning to the United States.

CLEARINGS UP

October Bank Transactions Total $10,667,172.

Mansfield bank clearings for October reached the highest point since July, the Mansfield Clearing House association reported today, and despite the drop in August and September, totals for the year to date exceeded those of a similar period last year.

Totals for last month were $10,667,172 as against $11,539,088 for October of last year. Year's totals, including the October figure, were $102,088,510 while for a similar period in 1941, they were $99,993,578.

October's figure this year was only slightly lower than in July, while the year's high month was March with clearings of $11,542,703.

FIRE THREATENS BUSINESS BLOCK

All Equipment In City Used To Battle Morning Blaze.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — (INS) — A fire that menaced an entire block in Johnstown's main business district for a while early today taxed all available fire-fighting equipment and manpower in the city before it was finally extinguished.

No estimate of the damage was made immediately.

The flames for the most part were confined to a brick and frame building housing a confectionery store, a jewelry store and several apartments above them. Ten residents of the apartments were forced to flee for their lives.

ZOOMS OVER GOAL

AKRON — (INS) — Akron's united War Chest campaign zoomed far above the $850,000 goal with final receipts carrying the amount raised to $1,150,805.

NEW NURSE AID CLASS STARTS

20 Volunteers Open 80-Hour Instruction Course at Hospital Monday.

The fourth Nurses' Aid class to be selected for training will begin the 80-hour instruction course Monday night at Mansfield General hospital.

Composed of 20 volunteers, most of whom are employed in the daytime, the class will receive its first 35-hour lecture period from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. daily Monday through Friday.

Another class of homemakers, able to give daytime service after the course is completed, is now sought by the Nurses' Aid committee that is finding it difficult to supply enough daytime help to the hospital to meet all requests.

Registration is open at the Red Cross executive offices and all applications are passed upon by the Nurses' Aid committee headed by Mrs. George L. Draffan.

Enrollment in the class starting Monday includes five Shelby members, Mrs. Margarett Kinsell, Peggy Briggs, Eleanor Jean Wentz, Jeanne Margaret Garvin and Mrs. Dorothy Jane Crowl and the following Mansfield group: Mrs. Jane Farrow, Mrs. Elsie M. Ashbaugh, Mrs. Mary Patricia Carbeau, Elizabeth Greenwood, Mrs. Garnet Faye Boyle, Mrs. Ellen Elizabeth Clark, Mrs. Kathryn Odelle Conner, Elizabeth Leap, Mrs. Elizabeth Ozier, Mrs. Lucile Russell, Mrs. Annetta N. SaVerne, Mrs. Faye Flood, Dorothy Eileen Kelly, Joan Annette Briant, Eleanor Long Egger.

Development of Y.W.C.A. Work In Japan Discussed

The development of Y.W.C.A. work in Japan as she had observed it during the 27 years she was an association secretary in Tokyo was traced by Mrs. Howard Hannaford of Springfield, O., speaking at the World Fellowship meeting of the Mansfield Y.W.C.A. last night.

Mrs. Hannaford spoke of the "fellowship that had grown up between Christian Japanese and Christian Chinese and the Christians of other countries" prior to the war and emphasized the "great need for understanding of the 70,000 American citizens of Japanese parentage who are in relocation centers in the west."

The speaker said that at no time was she interned after the war began although her husband had been under internment regulations. She said that whenever she is asked if she is glad to be back in "God's country," she always replies, "Can any less than the whole world be God's country?"

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hannaford returned to the states on the diplomatic exchange ship, Gripsholm, last August.

Mrs. C. J. Kalstein, chairman of World Fellowship committee, presided, and Mrs. John H. Finefrock, hospitality chairman, was in charge of refreshments dispensed after the program.

MACHINE GUN TO FACE PATRONS ARRIVING TO SEE 'WAKE ISLAND'

Patrons of the Ohio theater will be greeted by a grim and warlike atmosphere as they enter the lobby during the week beginning today when the epic "Wake Island" film will be shown as an observance of the 167th anniversary of the founding of the United States Marine Corps.

With a machine gun mounted on sandbag barracades similar to the fortifications of the south Pacific island where a handful of marines withstood repeated assaults of Japanese naval and landing forces 11 months ago, uniformed marines will pass out enlistment literature to the throngs studying the pictures of 150 or more Mansfield and Richland county marines now on active duty.

Yesterday a bronze plaque created in praise of the marine corps was presented to Richland detachment of the marine corps league. Following its week's display in the theater lobby it will be hung in the Memorial building clubrooms of the detachment.

On Tuesday evening parents of marines will be guests of the detachment at the Memorial building and mothers of devil-dogs now in the service will be admitted free to the showing of "Wake Island."

PLAN DINNER

Alien Recognition Meeting To Be Staged Dec. 2.

Dec. 2 has been the date set for the alien recognition dinner in the John Simpson cafeteria sponsored by local organizations affiliated with the National Citizenship Education program, it was announced today after a meeting of the advisory board of the Richland county NCEP.

Approximately 100 aliens, who will take their oath of allegience to the United States of America before Judge C. H. Huston on Nov. 18, along with 200 civil representatives, are expected to be present for the dinner, Roy Spetka, chairman, said.

Afterwards, a public program has been planned in the auditorium at which time William F. Russell, NCEP director, and O. E. Hill, assistant state director of the department of education and formerly of Galin, will be guest speaker.

SHOWS HOW TO BOOST INCOME

Richland county's 2,857 farm operators can increase their income from sale of fruits, nuts and vegetables by working with retailers in developing group marketing programs, they have been told by a distributor of Ohio crops.

"With wartime food supply conditions emphasizing the need for shortening commercial distances between growers and consumers, group marketing programs will aid the 'Food-for-Freedom' program and at the same time provide a key for post-war prosperity," in the opinion of Earl R. French, marketing director of the Atlantic Commission company. French estimated that the approximately 1,400 farmers in the county might be able to increase their earnings by as much as $45,000 a year if such a plan were used.

INJURIES FATAL

George Engelhard Succumbs After Train-Auto Crash.

BUCYRUS—George Engelhard, 83, died late yesterday in City hospital as a result of injuries suffered Tuesday when his car was struck by a train at the West Mansfield street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Born in Germany, Engelhard came here in 1883 and was a cattle buyer for 58 years. Surviving are three brothers and a sister, Mayer, Louise, Mose and Miss Rae Engelhard all of Bucyrus.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. at the Engelhard home and brulal will be in Oakwood cemetery.

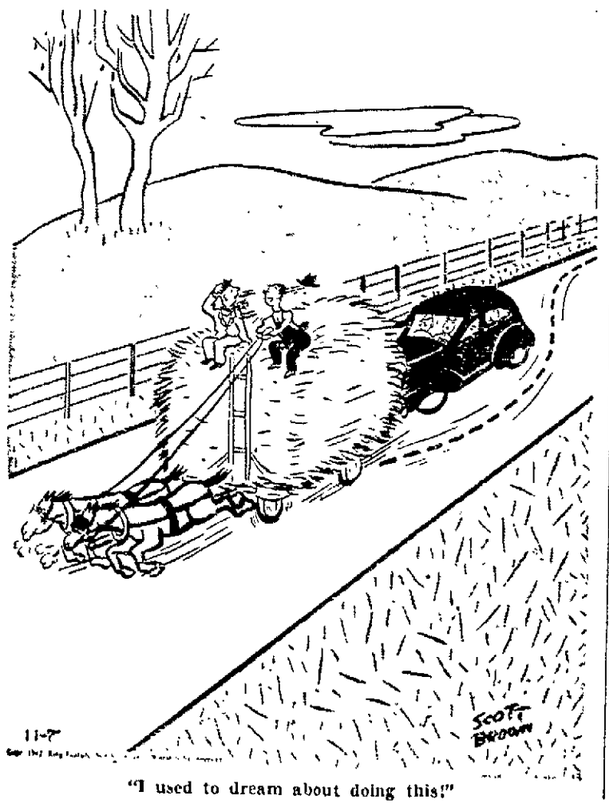
MARION WINS

Presidents Beat Shelby 29-6, Keep N. C. O. Record Intact.

MARION — Undefeated in the North Central Ohio league, Marion high school's Presidents romped over Shelby, 29 to 6, here last night.

Marion scored a touchdown and a safety in the first period and followed up with touchdowns in the second, third and fourth periods. Shelby scored its lone touchdown in the third quarter.

Laff-a-Day



"I used to dream about doing this!"

Although the war separated a Mansfield uncle and his nephew who left from opposite points of the country this summer, a ship brought them together again in Scotland the latter part of September, according to word received by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Zediker, 17 Junction street. Zediker's son, Earl, who was shipped out of New York in July with an Engineers' Shore regiment met his nephew, Foye Charles of the marines as he was getting on a boat in Scotland. Charles, son of Mrs. Bessie Charles East Third street, enlisted two years ago and left California for oversea duty in June. In addition to the son in the army, Zediker has a son, son-in-law, two grandsons in the navy and one grandson in the marines.

Police consider it just another one of those things when a wife asks that her husband be arrested for intoxication. It becomes a bit of news when a husband swears out a warrant for his wife's arrest because "she's been coming home drunk every day." This situation arose this morning when a Miller street spouse brought about his wife's arrest. Patrolman Floyd Bowers and Carl Beard served the warrant. Late today the allegedly tippling wife languished in city prison, there being no municipal court session due to the absence from the city of Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Wartime conditions will keep Mansfield postal employes on their regular schedule Armistice day with the exception of rural carriers who will not make deliveries but will report as usual to case their mail. For the past few years Nov. 11, has been observed as a holiday by the postoffice department and no service to the public was extended other than the regular dispatch of mail.

This week's top story in the Saturday Evening Post, "We Fought Through To Murmansk" was written by Robert Carse, brother of James Carse, a former Mansfielder, who is married to the former Constance Keene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. Keene, 105 Sherman place. James Carse is now handling publicity for the Westinghouse nutrition program at the Chicago offices. The Carse family has been prominent in the writing field and Robert's experiences with the merchant ship convoy which battled Nazi submarines, and bombing planes across the Atlantic and at the Russian port of debarkation form a thrilling chapter in the current war.

Raps Youths Too Immature at 18 To Be Soldiers

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Parents whose sons are too immature mentally at 18 to become soldiers should be ashamed, a psychologist asserted today.

Dr. Carl R. Rogers of Ohio State university, told a tri-state teacher personnel conference "it is the psychologically immature adolescent who will fail to measure up adequately whether at home or in the army."

"At home he will become a part of the 'prosperity spree' which will greatly increase the number of delinquents, because he has never learned to handle his time, money or himself in a responsible fashion. In the army he will become the neurotic or the failure in training."

Rogers said parents could shorten the "unduly long period of psychological infancy which has been so characteristic of recent American life" by giving youngster responsibility and independence as rapidly as they can handle it. This, he explained, would prepare them "for the problems of wartime and the period which will follow the war."

U. S. WORKERS WARNED WPB 'GETS TOUGH'

All Non-Agricultural Wages Under $5,000, Except For Professions, Frozen.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Realization that an "early freeze" had stunted growth of their pay envelopes last Sept. 15 dawned on the nation's workers today as they were confronted with the strict terms of a new wage-salary stabilization order issued by the war labor board.

Empowered by President Roosevelt's Oct. 3 economic stabilization order, the WLB virtually froze most wages and salaries under $5,000-a-year at the mid-September levels, and Chairman William H. Davis served notice it would be "pretty damn tough" to break the ice.

Adopted unanimously by the public, labor and industry members of the board, the order affected all non-agricultural wages and salaries under $5,000, except salaries paid supervisory or professional employes. Farm wages come under the agriculture department's jurisdiction and the treasury controls other salaries.

"Only in exceptional cases" are increases to be granted over the listed levels, the order stated, adding that no raises whatsoever are to be approved unless "necessary to correct maladjustments or inequalities, to eliminate sub-standards of living, to correct gross inequalities or to aid in the effective prosecution of the war."

The board also outlined a hands-off policy in manpower problems, stating that it would not approve wage increases designed to influence or direct the flow of workers from one industry or one area to another, although it agreed to consider correcting inequalities which might arise from such shifts.

The order stated that a bonus, fee, gift, commission or other form of compensation customarily paid employes can be continued in the future without board approval, subject to these specific provisos:

(1) If it is a fixed amount, the total amount paid during the current bonus year must not exceed the total paid an employe for like work during the preceding bonus year; and (2) if it is computed on a percentage, incentive or similar basis, the rate and method of computation may not be changed during the current bonus year unless they yield no more than they did during the preceding year.

The employe may receive a greater amount during the current bonus year only if the rate and method of computation are not changed in the current bonus year.

WILL BE TRIED

Flynn Confident as Court Sets Assault Hearing Nov. 23.

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Tall, bronzed Errol Flynn, voicing confidence in his ultimate complete vindication, today finds himself facing trial Nov. 23 on charges of the statutory rape of two minor girls.

His newest film opened last night at two major theaters here and in Hollywood, and on the whole received a good reception by critics and public. It is "Gentleman Jim," based on the life of Jim Corbett.

The dashing actor was sober-faced, yesterday when he heard himself bound over to Superior court on charges of violating Peggy La Rue Satterlee, Hollywood singer and dancer on a yacht cruise when she was 15, and Betty Hansen, 17, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., at a party in a fashionable Bel-Air residence.

PASTORS PLAN ARMISTICE DAY 'DAY OF PRAYER'

Worship Services From 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. Arranged For Wednesday.

A call to "Prayer for Peace" on Armistice day will be issued in all Protestant churches Sunday, and a day of prayer, sponsored by the Richland County Ministerial association will be held Wednesday at First Presbyterian church from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m.

The committee in charge of arrangements appointed by Rev. Albert L. Linder, president, is Rev. Roland Showalter, Rev. David N. Roller, and Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, chairman.

Clergymen will lead in scripture and prayer at the beginning of each hour, and worshippers are urged to come to the church some time during the day for the intercession for a righteous peace.

First Presbyterian church has been chosen as a downtown, centrally located house of worship convenient for this purpose.

Dinner To Follow Service Sunday

"When Dreams Come True" will be the sermon subject of Rev. Albert L. Linder at the 10:30 a. m. worship service Sunday for the Park Avenue Baptist church. The service will be followed by the annual fellowship dinner at noon for friends and members of the church.

Another feature of the morning service will be the dedication of a service flag. Names of 32 members of the church serving in the armed forces will be read and a flag with 32 stars on it will be presented.

Organ music includes "Peace Heroique" and "Toccato on St. Anne" as played by Robert Wervey, organist. Under the direction of Mrs. Edith Fletcher Jameson the choir will sing "We Gather Together" and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Other activities of the week are: Baptist youth fellowship, 6:30 p. m. Sunday; junior choir, 4 p. m. Monday; Samaritan class with Mrs. George Boswell, 264 Park avenue west. Tuesday 2 p. m.; Woman's union Wednesday at 10 a. m. and finance committee at 7:30 p. m.; prayer meeting, 7:30 p. m. Thursday and senior choir rehearsal Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Gives Lecture at Senior High Tonight

A lecture on Christian science entitled, "Christian Science, Its Revelation of the Unknown God," will be presented today at 8:15 p. m. in the Mansfield Senior high school auditorium by John Randall Dunn, a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, in Boston, Mass.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, Nov. 8. It will have for the Golden Text: "As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous" (Romans 5: 19).

Included in the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon are the following correlative passages from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way. Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down: for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand" (Psalms 37:23,24). "The great truth in the science of being, that the real man was, is, and ever shall be perfect, is incontrovertible; for if man is the image, reflection, of God, he is neither inverted nor subverted, but upright and Godlike." (Science and Health, p. 200).

Brethren Church's Week's Schedule

Presentation and dedication of little children will highlight the 10:30 a. m. service tomorrow morning in the Church of the Brethren conducted by the pastor, Rev. Roland L. Showalter, whose sermon will be entitled "What Is a Man's Worth?" Pauline Kennedy will sing a soprano solo.

At 8 p. m. Sunday a Prince of Peace contest will be held in the church under the joint auspices of the church and of the speech department of Madison high school. Four contestants will compete for the bronze medal award and the privilege of entering the county contest early next month.

Other events on the church calendar for the week include: joint meeting of the trustee, deacon and finance boards in the church Sunday at 2:30 p. m.; Women's Work organization of the church will meet all day Wednesday in the church with a covered dish dinner served at the noon hour; Sunday school board and teachers will meet at 7:30 p. m. 100,000 AXIS TROOPS CAUGHT IN DESERT WAR

British Pursue Remnants of Rommel Force Halfway To Libya Border.

one military commentator "he has very little."

Earlier front dispatches that the Eighth army already was fighting in the Matruh region were supported by the communique, which disclosed that low-flying Allied aircraft were pounding the enemy at a "point west of Matruh." It was not considered likely that the Allied air forces would waste ammunition on anything but the main body of Rommel's dwindling forces.

Matruh is 104 miles west of El Alamein, where the great push started.

The 20,000 prisoners already accounted for represent at least one-seventh of Rommel's total manpower of perhaps 140,000 in the desert, it was believed. There was no mention of dead, wounded and uncounted prisoners.

In addition, the British were mopping up a number of Italian divisions abandoned on the edge of the Qattara depressions when the Axis forces began the headlong retreat from the El Alamein line.

The capture of 350 tanks and "many thousands of vehicles" was a crippling blow to the Axis army. Many of the Italian troops were reported stranded simply for the lack of transportation as Rommel apparently piled his German troops into available trucks and headed for Libya.

It was these riding troops who were being blasted off the roads of Egypt and scattered, dead and wounded, along the bordering desert sands.

At the highest estimate of Rommel's armored force, the 350 captured tanks represented a loss of one-third of his striking force. Some estimates of his original force placed his tank strength at 500 vehicles.

While the pursuit continued, heavy bombers carried out attacks on Bengasi and Tobruk, points of supply for the tattered Axis army. At Bengasi hits were made on a tanker and at Tobruk a merchant ship was hit, the communique said.

There was no sign of Axis air activity, it was reported.

Not even stopping for the thousands of German and Italian prisoners lining their route, hundreds of British tanks and trucks poured westward in an effort to smash and destroy the much-touted African corps.

Six Italian divisions, totaling perhaps 80,000 men, were reported in a bad plight in the desert, their communications cut and facing possible annihilation or surrender.

British, American and South African airmen droned over the coastal road, choked with Axis troops and vehicles, dropping their bombs into the writhing columns and causing indescribable confusion.

Already Allied planes were using the airport at El Daba, 33 miles west of El Alamein. So swift was the Allied advance that a special RAF regiment was able to seize more than 200 prisoners at the airport and destroy more than 50 enemy aircraft, including several gliders on the ground.

Axis prisoners were streaming back to the rear past the bodies of former comrades in arms. Some of them were packed into their own trucks and driven to prisoner depots.

Fuka, 62 miles west of El Alamein, also was in Allied hands and was being used as a forward base for the relentless pursuit of the enemy.

While the mass of the remaining Axis armored equipment was believed headed for the Libyan border, there were reports of heavy enemy tanks in the desert south of El Daba.

The fleeing Germans on the northern road are not in fighting formation, it was said, and they were reported offering little resistance.

control of Henderson airfield on Guadalcanal island and U. S. planes and ships have been able to smash numerous enemy seaborne and aerial thrusts.

The navy's latest communique reported that U. S. planes aided defending group troops by straffing enemy forces during continuous air patrols over Guadalcanal.

Since the attack on Pearl Harbor 11 months ago approximately 500 Japanese warships and supply vessels have been sunk or damaged by American army and navy forces.

In the Solomons campaign alone, U. S. forces in the Guadalcanal area have sunk or damaged 77 Nipponese ships, while United Nations airmen from Australia have reported nearly that number destroyed or hit during the same period.

In addition, the Japs have lost more than 529 planes in the Guadalcanal area while more than 100 other enemy aircraft have been wiped out by pilots from Australia.

Augmenting this destruction, United States submarines operating throughout Far Eastern waters have taken a terrific toll of Japanese ships bound for Tokyo with raw materials and for enemy bases with supplies and reinforcements.

U. S. Bombs Hit Jap Port of Rangoon

NEW DELHI — (INS) — United States bombing planes heavily raided the dock area and shipping in the Japanese-held Burmese port of Rangoon, U. S. army headquarters in India announced in a communique today.

A direct hit was scored upon a small ship lying in the harbor when the American bombers struck yesterday. Warehouses were damaged by bomb blasts.

The attack was carried out without a single loss to the Americans, the communique said.

What 'Commandos' Fight For

(Editor's Note: The three War Chest agencies listed below complete, with one exception, the series of daily articles which have been appearing in The News-Journal in advance of the "Commando" offensive on Mansfield to raise a $140,377 objective. An article on the remaining agency, the Hospital Bureau, will appear tomorrow.)

American Social Hygiene

The American Social Hygiene association that asks for $223 from the Community War Chest is devoting all its resources to needs arising out of the war and now seeks a national budget of $330,000 for wartime work.

Its efforts are to prevent and stamp out venereal diseases among military and war industry personnel. During the first World War a total of 7,004,818 days were lost because of such conditions.

The association is aiding states and communities in studying and combating commercialized vice in the vicinity of military and war industrial areas, it is offering hygiene instruction in the public schools and to all organized groups and it is aiding the army and navy and civil health authorities along all lines of public health.

Y. W. C. A. Program

To meet the special problems and burdens of women caused by total war and to train them for new activities is the purpose of a national $300,000 fund for overseas war services sought by the National Board of the Y. W. C. A.

Richland county's part in that goal has been set at $234, an amount embraced by the Community War Chest. This fund will aid bombed out civilian families, refugees and war prisoners. It will back up the participation of women in military service and in agricultural and industrial work. It will also aid young children whose mothers are engaged in work in war areas.

Mansfield Dental Clinic

The Mansfield Dental Clinic organized three years ago to provide dental attention to Mansfield grade and high school pupils, both public and parochial, whose parents were unable to do so, will share in the Community War Chest to the amount of $1,200.

Until last year when the Clinic was admitted to the Fund the dental service was financed by benefits given by the women of 32 clubs who organized the Clinic. This same group of women recently contributed $600 toward equipping a central dental office in the health department of the Municipal building.

All cases are referred to the Clinic by the city health department and school nurses. Mansfield dentists co-operate with the Clinic in handling the cases and they work in the central office on a rotating schedule.

Since the Clinic stated 243 pupils have received dental attention to the extent of 613 different items. Cases handled this year will be in line with the survey made last spring by the mobile dental unit of the state department of health.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and look in Monday's police court report for the names of those who don't.

Russian weather seems entirely unsuited to invasion—moving directly from a bad summer into a terrible winter.

Unity has been attained on one thing at least—Thanksgiving is to be observed in all states on the same day this year.

Vice President Wallace Explains

MANY VIEWS must be changed if New Deal interpretation of election results are to be accepted without the customary grain of salt, long deemed an advisable addition to obviously biased opinions.

As viewed by Vice President Henry Wallace, for instance, "the Democratic party was deprived of some of its strongest support by the fact that millions of young citizens in the army didn't vote, and that most war workers were too busy to vote," from which he concludes that "a large proportion of voters were people who are well-to-do, hence are more likely to be Republicans."

Then there's Jay Franklin, able publicist for the New Deal, who is similarly impressed that "normal voting strength of the Democratic party had been seriously cut down by service in the armed forces and the migrations of war industry. . . . These two groups—the young and the industrial workers—have been most consistently pro-New Deal."

It is the thought presented by Vice President Wallace that seems particularly disturbing, especially to Ohioans, whose state recorded an almost two-to-one vote for re-election of Governor Bricker and where war workers were given opportunity and were strongly urged to vote—as an expression of Americanism.

Nor can it be graciously accepted that the proportion of "well-to-do" Republicans is any larger than equally well-to-do Democrats, or that the approximate one-third of Ohio voters who supported the Democratic nominee for governor were the "underprivileged one-third" to which President Roosevelt has made frequent reference as being "ill fed, ill housed and ill clothed." A sketchy survey seems to disclose about the same percentage of "well-to-do" Democrats as Republicans around these parts, although not all of them may be of the New Deal variety.

Strange, also, seems the contention that more Democrats than Republicans have been drafted into military service, and that war workers are predominantly Democratic, for surely no evidence has thus far been presented to indicate that these large segments of citizenship are not as capable of recognizing administration weaknesses, and expressing disapproval, as are those millions who voted at Tuesday's election.

Shortage of Small Coins Here

MANSFIELD banks and business places are beginning to notice the shortage of small coins, which has become prevalent all over the country.

It appears that too many pennies, nickels and dimes have been put away in children's banks or are being saved by thrifty housewives to be banked later, or exchanged for a war savings bond.

From Chicago comes the story of a little girl whose mother had saved pennies for her since her birth in October 1939—a total of 1,975 coins that had thus been taken out of circulation—or 15½ pounds of badly needed copper.

The treasury believes that thousands of tons of copper are hidden in hoarded pennies, and that hundreds of tons of other vital metals are tied up in home savings banks.

Those who have been keeping small coins in excess of normal needs are urged to put this money back in circulation by using it to make purchases or exchanging it for war savings stamps or bonds.

Operators of penny and nickel slot machines, which require a vast number of these small coins, are also asked to empty machines frequently so that this money can get back into banks for re-distribution.

New Songs for America

MANY grieve at the death of Ralph Rainger, song writer, who was killed with eleven other persons in an airplane crash at Palm Springs, Cal. He composed, with Leo Robin, many songs that in the words of a great philosopher, "went home to men's hearths and bosoms." Among them were "Moanin' Low," "June In January," "With Every Breath I Take," and "All of Me." There was a quality in his songs much finer and higher than the general run of American minstrelsy in recent years.

But there will be other minstrels now, to meet the moods of a new age into which the nation has been plunged. With the challenge and the fighting comes a new stirring of emotions such as have not been felt for a long time. They are sure to find expression in song. And in the new songs may be expected, along with sentiment and emotion, the vigor that comes with the awakening of a powerful nation. There should be some great battle songs along with the love songs.

Great Britain's War Production

GREAT BRITAIN announces that it is now producing more war materials per capita than any other nation on either side of the war. Acknowledging American leadership in gross ship and plane production, it adds that man for man, the British shipbuilders are turning out twice as much as any other country. They have greatly increased their output in recent months.

Why, then, it will be asked, are American ships, planes and war materials of many kinds still being shipped to England so liberally? The answer is simple. It is because Britain is sending four-fifths of her production to others of the Allied Nations.

It is well for Americans to bear such facts in mind when discussing our own war output. We are doing increasingly well, but we keep for ourselves a much larger share of our production than Britain does.

Jack Warwick, Toledo Blade paragrapher, thinks that Hitler's intuition must now rank with that of the woman who guessed wrong on four husbands.

The Kansas City Star seems rather pleased over the idea that: "The more liquor goes up, the less it will go down."

Old jokes are usually best—and besides, there are more of them.

ADOLF LOOKS INTO THE FUTURE

Japan's Shoguns Back In Power

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Japan wasn't such an unpleasant country to live in, in the days just before the last World war. It must have been unpleasant up to a few years previously, for a period of about seven centuries, for its military class, the so-called shogunate, ran it then, and that, from all accounts, including those I have heard from some of the more civilized type of Japs themselves, was about history's meanest outfit on earth.

Premier Tojo

It gradually died a kind of a natural death, just why I never could certainly ascertain, around the middle of the 1800's, and when I sojourned there, at the time the Sun Yat-Sen revolution was progressing in China, the nation was fairly democratic.

It isn't popular to say so at present, but a Jap, unidentified with the military group, frequently is an extremely nice, accommodating chap, and so I found 'em, among the newspapermen I met, and their fellow natives, to whom they introduced me. To this minute, war and all, I can't shake off a kindly feeling for my old friends there.

The shogunate, however, is re-establishing itself. I suppose the war gives it its opportunity. Tokyo wireless broadcasts tell the story, and, in this instance, Tokyo information obviously is reliable.

It isn't inexplicable. Jap militarism, vicious as it is, is efficient, and war-time efficiency naturally is in demand everywhere today.

The shogunate isn't numerically considerable but it's compact, and, when it acts, it does so vigorously—phenomenally so. It picked Gen. Hideki Tojo for the Tokyo premiership and boosted him into it in short order.

Hirohito a Figurehead.

Emperor Hirohito frequently is mentioned as having lined his country up with the Axis. That, of course, is because it's convenient so to refer to him in news dispatches. In fact, he probably has no more influence in the dictation of Jap policies than a rickshaw coolie.

I'm not so sure that a rickshaw coolie or the ordinary Jap enjoys participation in the current conflict. These chaps run all the risks and can't figure on any of the possible profits. Hirohito, personally, may feel the same way about it, but it's a cinch that he isn't consulted. To say that he's a governmental figurehead is to express it mildly. The actual authority is the shogunate's, with General Tojo, so to speak, as the president of it.

Well, what makes the shogunate, numerically so small, so influential?

The answer is that the shogunate's custom, when opposed, is to appoint a committee to drop in on the opponent to any one of its vital plans and assassinate him. It isn't exactly fair to refer to it precisely as an assassination, for it's more in the nature of an execution. It's extra-judicial but it's a Japanese custom.

Well, Premier Tojo, the Jap radio relates, has just been reorganizing the Tokyo government along shogunate lines.

It's military but it's also internal.

I'm curious to watch how Japan will react to it.

A Fascist can be convinced. A Nazi can be licked. A shogun can be slaughtered only.

Folding Youth Away

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

(For men especially.)

HOUSE-CLEANING TIME. I've been going over the shelves, digging into the bureau drawers, shaking blankets and flannels out of the moth balls. And finding many a surprise. Things I'd forgotten.

There's that blue suit I had two years ago. A gay thing—I loved it. Somehow it put wings beneath my tired heels and a song in my heart. Then hard breaks happened. One of those tough and unfair deals that gets you down. Hurt, grief, despair and the sickness that inevitably follows such mental surrender. So the blue suit was laid away. For months I'd forgotten it until I came across it today. Sitting there on the floor with all my housecleaning gadgets around me, I started thinking.

How often we all do with our mouth just what I've done with my gay blue suit—folded it away, left it unfinished.

It needn't be finished. There's no arbitrary line between youth and age. There is no point on the calendar which says you must quit, put your enthusiasm and ambition away in moth balls. The chemistry of the body may slow you up a bit but that needn't cramp your mental style unless you let it.

May Robson died the other day at 78 died with failing vision, but there were no moth balls for her. In the dimness she saw further, higher and deeper than most of us who have no shadowed vision. Remember Louise Dresser; Who doesn't. The warmth and laughter and courage of her great heart went around the world, though her body was being eaten by cancer. But it takes more than blindness or cancer to stop a go-getter in soul.

That epitaph doesn't apply merely to a New England infant. It should be hung around many a husky, sunburned neck. How soon we are done, we who yesterday burned with youth and fire! Then something happened. We lost a job. We got the double cross from a trusted friend. The Doc told us we'd have to slow up on mountain climbing or dancing, cocktails, coffee or cigars. Or Fate dealt one over the heart. Or maybe we discovered a gray hair. And forthwith we took the count and folded our youth away in moth balls.

"Well, that's that," we said to ourselves. "I'm not going to kid myself. I'm done for. Blotto. Rubbed out. No use pretending I'm not. I'll stick around, of course. Do what I can. But it's just a matter of a few months or years now, then it's taps."

TAPS? RUBBISH! YOU'RE AS YOUTHFUL AS YOU WANT TO BE. YOU HAVE AS MUCH CURIOSITY AND EAGERNESS AS YOU WANT TO HAVE. YOU CAN KEEP GOING WITH A TWO-FISTED WALLOP AS LONG AS YOU ARE WILLING TO BUCK THE BREAKS.

Matter of fact, the average 17-year-old kid is probably ten times as frightened and disheartened as his 45-year-old dad. But the kid snaps out of it and so could dad. Trouble with most of us oldsters is that we really want to loaf on the job and an upper plate is a grand excuse. We are not doomed. There are as many adventures before us as there are behind us. But we have got fallen arches and we can't be bothered to get up and get going.

Folding our youth away, it's surely a favorite indoor sport. Like chewing your nails or letting your permanent grow out or stopping shaving. But it buys you nothing, not even sympathy, and if you have the spunk God gave a woodtick, snap out of it and get yourself a new act.

As Others See It

Chilly Thought.

Enough ice remains encased in Antarctica to cloak the entire globe in ice 120 feet thick and sometimes we think it wouldn't be a bad idea.—Columbus Dispatch.

Observation.

The first successful leader was a guy who noticed that animals could be tamed and made "loyal" by feeding them.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Daily Bible Thought

Who covereth the heaven with clouds, and prepareth rain for the earth; and maketh the grass to grow upon the mountains, and herb for the use of men. Psalm 147-7-8.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date, 1811, while the Shawnee leader, Tecumseh, was busy stirring up the Creeks and Cherokees of the South to join his confederacy against the white men, his twin brother "The Prophet," made an attack on the forces of William Henry Harrison, governor of Indian Territory, who led a force of 900 men to the Indian town on Tippecanoe Creek. The Indians were driven off and forced to abandon their town which Harrison burned next day.

Summary of Week's Happenings

'Protest' Vote Features Election, Republican Gains Top Forecasts

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A DECADE ago Americans in the midst of unemployment, foreclosures and depression, turned thumbs down on Republican office-holders, elected Franklin D. Roosevelt president and gave him a Democratic congress with which to carry out his New Deal program.

This week, in the midst of another crisis, voters spoke again, prepared to send to Washington the nearest thing to a party-balanced national legislature the country has seen in 10 years.

Republicans were jubilant; they grabbed an armful of the choicest contests in the nation.

In New York, Thomas E. Dewey breezed to the governorship in the wake of the primary battle between FDR and his ex-strategist, James A. Farley, stepped out in front in the race for GOP presidential consideration in 1944.

Republicans captured governorships in Michigan, California and Connecticut, but saw another party man, Julius (The Just) Heil lose to a Wisconsin Progressive, Orland S. Loomis.

Senate fatalities included Oklahoma's Democratic, prohibition-boosting Josh Lee, and Nebraska's Independent, George W. Norris, who sought to extend his 30 years in the Senate with President Roosevelt's blessing.

* * *

Expense Account.

John X. Citizen, also known variously as The Little Fellow, The Man in the Street, and the Backbone of Democracy, sauntered forth last week to find out how much they'd boosted the installment payments on this war he's buying.

At the corner drug store he bought a half-dozen nickel cigars and discovered they now cost him six cents apiece under the new excise tax rise. A package of cigarets cost an additional penny.

He stopped at his neighborhood liquor store, and instead of $2.50 for a bottle of whisky, he paid $2.90. He also learned that the levy on wines had been boosted, and he paid 30 cents, instead of 25, for the highball he sipped at his favorite tavern.

At the photography shop he bought a new $10-gadget for his camera and paid a $2.50 tax (it would have been $1 two weeks ago) and on $1 worth of films he paid 15 cents tax instead of the former 10 cents.

He made a long-distance telephone call costing $2 (new tax, 40 cents; old tax, 20 cents) and at the railroad station he was advised that a $10 railroad ticket would cost, henceforth, $11 instead of $10.50.

The new tax program thus came to John Citizen with a wallop, but he paid willingly for the most part, knowing that his contribution to the $495,000,000 annual increase would help build more ships, planes, tanks.

No one explained to John how, with the increased taxes, he also would be able to meet Congress' new levy of more than $400 on his $4,000 income. Simplest explanation was that John will buy fewer cigars, fewer bottles of whisky, fewer gadgets for his camera.

Quotes

Vice President Wallace, explaining Republican gains—In times like the present an abnormally large proportion of voters are persons who are well-to-do, hence more likely to be Republicans.

Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board chairman, announces tighter control of war materials: "We are trying to see that things of most importance are handled first, that the things of secondary importance are handled next and that the things which are not essential to winning the war are not handled at all."

At Home

Flying Freighters Coming.

"Genius is the only bottleneck in our war effort," Production Genius Henry J. Kaiser told a conference of Army, Navy, government and industrial leaders. Then he promised to break the bottleneck, circling April, 1944, on his calendar for the unveiling of his projected mass production of the largest (140 tons) air-cargo ships in the world.

How would he do it? Kaiser offered this blueprint to other war manufacturers: "Every manufacturer who finds himself short of raw materials should immediately find a method to manufacture these materials of which he is short."

In Baltimore, Glenn L. Martin revealed that his huge Martin Mars, a 140,000-pound midget next to Kaiser's dream ships, is being converted from a mighty battleship to an equally mighty air freight car.

* * *

Calling the Doctors.

Since the start of the war congress has taken official notice of the shortage of men for the maritime service, the farms, the factories, some branches of the armed forces. But last week, congress was told that the shortage threatens the health of the nation.

Point of the argument was the Army and Navy's heavy enrollment of doctors. The situation, witnesses told a senate labor subcommittee, is leaving many communities without adequate medical service.

Small communities are hit hardest. There, the subcommittee heard, patriotism and the pressure of public opinion are the moving force for wholesale enlistments by doctors.

The committee mulled over the problem, indicated it would be permitted to rest until the 18-19 year old draft bill—sidetracked by the election—is disposed of. But there was every indication that the tangled manpower problem was moving steadily toward clarification, by national service legislation that will put men in war-essential jobs, keep them there for the duration.

* * *

Tempest In a Coffee Pot.

With coffee rationing just around the corner, busy little Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia took to the radio for one of his informal talks to Manhattan's millions.

Coffee rationing, said the mayor, will not be difficult. And to make the allotment go further, he advised sprinkling some fresh coffee on top of the old grounds, "for a very good cup of coffee for the evening."

New Yorkers who want a wallop in their coffee howled in derision, and a spokesman for the National Coffee association said the mayor was "playing strictly by ear."

"He might as well have advised shivering New Yorkers to mix a sprinkling of coal with dead ashes and expect a roaring fire," said the spokesman.

Abroad

Axis Rout In Egypt.

Starting in cheerful tone early in the week, news from Egypt became progressively confident as the days passed and the Axis desert army, Germans and Italians, under "Miracle Man" Rommel, was reported in full flight westward toward Lybia.

The British commander triumphantly declared: "Complete victory is almost in sight," but it was recognized that the fighting is not yet over and that Rommel is a clever and resourceful general.

Meanwhile Premier Mussolini has again postponed plans which he made last summer for a triumphant personal appearance in Cairo.

* * *

Jittery Turkey.

Last week, Turkey showed signs of war jitters. From President Ismet Inonu came the solemn pronouncement: "Turkey stands in danger of attack."

Laymen grabbed their newspapers and their maps, scanned both to see what development might have prompted Inonu's declaration, and from which direction the attack might come.

To the northeast, the Germans were smashing with renewed vigor at the Caucasus, and many observers felt that Russia had reached another critical stage in its defenses. The weather was on Russia's side, but the Germans were hitting hard, apparently in an effort to clean up that campaign, push on through to the oil country to the south.

* * *

Liberia O. K.'s Dollar.

One day last week in the far-off Republic of Liberia, the president signed an executive order making American money legal tender to the extent of $20.

The news would have been of no interest to Americans, except that a day or two before, a British news agency announced without other confirmation, that U. S. white and negro soldiers had been stationed in the African west coast republic since July.

It was the second recent report of American troop landings in Africa and added to the possibility of wide-spread Allied blows against Axis-dominated territory there.

Dakar, west Africa's hot spot, continued to evacuate women and children while the French West African governor, Pierre Boisson, said Dakar would resist attack "with all means."

Losses In Pacific.

The nation was still distressed over the loss of three first-line cruisers and the aircraft carrier Wasp in the Solomons when Elmer Davis, boss of the Office of War Information, spoke reassuringly.

"Up to noon today," he said, "when I last talked to navy representatives, all sinkings of major U. S. naval vessels have been reported."

Three days later the navy announced the loss of another aircraft carrier—the fourth since the start of the war—in an action that took place two days before Davis spoke.

* * *

Honorable Jap.

To the many stories of Jap soldiers' fanatical willingness to die in combat, American troops during the week added reports of Japanese treachery in battle.

From the Solomons area came the tale of how 28 out of 30 Marine officers and men died when they accompanied a Japanese officer, bearing a flag of truce, to a camp where he said his company wished to surrender. Hidden machine guns mowed down the men as they approached; two jumped into the sea and escaped.

The Marines told of other instances where Japs used flags of truce, sometimes unsuccessfully, to lure troops into ambush; how they baited booby traps (concealed explosives) with the bodies of their own dead.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—How would you like to have a hat for every occasion? Just one hat, mind you? Then Jack Marshall is the man you want to see.

Only thing is, Jack Marshall isn't selling hats. He's a comedian. One of his numbers has to do with an oval piece of felt, literally a hat brim without a roof. You ladies wouldn't believe the things that can be done with one piece of felt. Jack gives it 18 varieties—one for every eight bars of music to the chorus. It comes out Quaker, Chinese, Paul Revere, Napoleon, almost everything.

The odd part of it is that professional milliners would like to know how it's done, even though they watch the act over and over again. Jack learned to twist the brim before a mirror and guide his hands accordingly. When you watch him, you get the reverse effect, and even the mirrors scattered about Jack's stamping grounds, the Glass Hat room of the Belmont-Plaza hotel, don't help you a bit.

It's a million-dollar idea—yours for nothing, if you can figure it out.

THE first time I saw Beatrice and Evelyne Kraft I thought I was in for an agonizing fifteen minutes. They were on the stage in one of Broadway's several variety shows of the past year, and it was announced that the Jack Cole troupe would do some Indian temple dances.

Well, the act started stuffily enough, with the expected in makeup, posturing and the costumes. I looked down at my program and yawned. But abruptly, the pit band stepped up the tempo, and on the stage they were doing something called "The Boogie-Woogie Temple Dance." Or maybe it was "The Bombay Lindy." Anyway, it was fascinating, swing and Siva all mixed up.

I've seen the sisters twice since, once with Cole at the Rainbow Room, again when they made their debut two weeks ago at the Cafe Society Uptown. They're going places. Both are brunette, equally pretty. Beatrice, 22, has blue eyes. Evelyne, 21, has brown eyes. They got into this type of dancing through an original interest in drama, which included study at the Moscow Art theater. And they were born—of all places in Englewood, New Jersey.

YOU remember the story about Karen Gaylord, discovered in a Montana bank by Harry Conover and glorified on the covers of national magazines? Well, here's another. Two months ago Frances Long was a prisoner in a Japanese internment camp in Manila. In Shanghai she had been private secretary to J. B. Powell, the Missourian famous as a newspaperman in the Orient, and who fared badly at the hands of the Japanese. Frances Long was released and arrived in New York on the Gripsholm last month, footloose and jobless. Conover met her, engaged her on sight. Next month she's on the covers of Vogue and Harper's Bazaar. What's that about beauty being its own reward?

COUNCIL SEES FIRE HAZARD IN HOARDING

Meets at Ashland Monday to Study Problem of Gas Storage.

ASHLAND — When Ashland councilmen meet Monday night they will consider the hoarding of gasoline and its relationship to fire hazards. At a recent meeting of council Fire Chief Paul Soles reported that a large number of motorists plan to beat gasoline rationing by storing supplies of fuel.

He said that he had been in one Ashland cellar where a man had a five-gallon can of gasoline near his furnace. The man owned no automobile but had the gasoline to provide for some one who would furnish him transportation to go hunting, the chief said.

A city ordinance allows storage up to three barrels of gasoline, kerosene and naptha, on private property.

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

Homespun Atmosphere of 36 Bar Draws Many to Friendly Cafe

Choice Viands Offered By Wehinger With Expert Service

It's old home week every week at the 36 Bar.

That's primarily because Jerry Wehinger, proprietor of the cafe, makes his guests feel "at home at Jerry's" with a brand of sincerity as homespun as a red and white checked tablecloth.

And too, the 36 Bar is sort of a Mansfield institution . . . with 8 years location at 36 West Fourth street, it has become a landmark for refreshment . . . a mecca for town talk and good fellowship.

There's an atmosphere of comparative quiet here, too. Jerry is proud that much of his business has been built around family trade. Mom and Pop and Uncle Ed like to drop in for a nightcap and a chat with Jerry and business men throng the place in intimate groups.

The boys back of the bar are Harry Hanna, popularily known as Murph, and Ed Gutzwiler, both skilled barmen with experience gleaned from service in several of the more famous bars across the country. Both are as adept at mixing your pet concoction as in tossing together a popular oldster.

The 36 Bar features E & K wines, Stroh's and Webber's beers and a wide assortment of liquors, served courteously by Ruth Goad and Hazel Pugh.

The club has a seating capacity of 100 with booths for ladies.

Jerry Wehinger, proprietor, formerly was associated with the Bissman company. He habitually stresses the sale of war stamps at the 36 Bar and devotes one of his show windows to patriotic displays.

In the accompanying photograph is shown the popular 36 Bar, 36 West Fourth street, with barmen "Ed" Gutzwiler, and "Murph" Hanna and proprietor Jerry Wehinger ready to serve an ever increasing number of patrons with the best liquors procurable.

Smart Studios Present Plaque To Local Band

Commemorating the birth of John Philip Sousa, world famous bandmaster and composer, this week, Eugene Smart of Smart Studios and Music Shop, will present a plaque of Sousa and a facsimile of the original manuscript of "Stars and Stripes Forever" to the Mansfield Senior high school band.

One of the most beloved military marches in history, it is said that the outline for the composition flashed through the composer's mind as his ship cruised into New York harbor and he thrilled to the Statue of Liberty and the New York skyline.

Sousa was a warm friend and sponsor of Conn band instruments which are distributed exclusively in North Central Ohio by the Smart sound-proof studios, 5 Park avenue west, and the Smart Music Music Shop, 6 South Main.

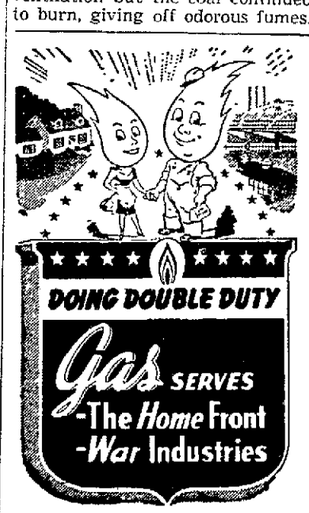
Coal Fumes Bring Extra Holiday for Galion School

GALION — Smoldering coal which gave off strong gas fumes brought a one-day holiday to 850 students of the Galion Junior high school Friday.

School was dismissed so that 75 to 80 tons of slowly burning coal could be removed from the bins in the basement.

Fire Chief Harry Kile and the board of education recommended Friday that students be dismissed although Chief Kile said the condition was not serous. Superintendent M. A. Povenmire said the board of education purchased 100 tons of fine stoker coal last spring in order to insure an adequate supply because of threatened transportation difficulties.

Late last summer the first signs of a condition similar to spontaneous combustion were noted when the fire department was called to extinguish a small fire in a coal bin that had ignited some kindling wood. Since that time a watchman has been on guard to prevent an out-break of fire. Tiles were placed under the coal to provide ventilation but the coal continued to burn, giving off odorous fumes.



Wasted Time Often Due to Faulty Watch

Too little too late has come to be a fearsome phrase in America and it is becoming increasingly important to all of us as individuals to show our patriotism by being on time.

We're talking in terms of minutes when we note that Poland was conquered in 37,440 minutes; France was defeated in 44,640 minutes and a single defense plant lost 172,980 minutes in lateness last month.

Minutes mean munitions and the seconds we lose through inaccurate timepieces become mountains these days.

Culp Brothers, jewelers, 307-8 Richland Trust building, offer a highly skilled service in watchmaking and repair. H. Eugene Culp, watchmaker and engraver, is a graduate of Bradley Polytechnic Institute, world's finest watchmaking school. He is the only craftsman in Mansfield claiming this distinction.

Earl J. Culp brings to the unique partnership 26 years of experience as a skilled manufacturing jeweler and repairman, having learned his trade with the famous Bancroft Brothers organization in Columbus.

The combined artistry of the Culp Brothers makes their organization unique in that they are independent of any outside service. This insures prompt service on mountings and all repair work at a time when such service is at a premium.

In fact, Culp Brothers have established a wholesale watch repair service which has included, during the last several years, work for scores of jewelers within a radius of 150 miles. The workmanship of Eugene Culp even includes the manufacturing of intricate parts for watches.

Earl Culp is highly skilled in the restoration, designing and fashioning of fine jewelry and the modernization of old jewels.

In addition to these services, Culb Brothers also wish to announce a new stock of watches which are included in their Christmas showing of gifts for discriminating customers.

FURNACE TEST OFFERED BY ALLEN KNAPP

Fume-Check Method Assures Fuel Conservation And Safety.

During World war I we sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning" with great zest. Added to that problem now, literally speaking, is the one of keeping the home fires burning with the least possible amount of fuel because transportation looms as a major problem. Unless your furnace is operating with the greatest possible efficiency, conservation of fuel is not possible.

An exclusive principle has been devised through which loss of efficiency in heating equipment may be accurately located and checked. By this unique process, a chemical available exclusively in Mansfield with the Allen Knapp Heating company, causes expansion, penetrating every nook and cranny in a heating plant.

If a furnace has a leak, a pungent but harmless odor will be noted in the house, thus immediately checking the safety and efficiency of the plant. The furnace is not disturbed and the fire is permitted to burn during the test.

Thus, fuel may be conserved through improved operation and control of the equipment. Danger of carbon monoxide poisoning and fire caused by leaky fire walls and pipes may be eliminated and furnace dirt ceases to be a problem.

This "FUME CHEK" service is available at no charge through the courtesy of the Allen Knapp company. Phone 4406-6 for prompt attention to your heating plant . . . for fuel conservation . . . for safety . . . for protection to property.

D. A. R. CHAPTER HAS DESSERT-LUNCHEON

Members of Jared Mansfield Group Meet Friday at Home of Mrs. Wittemire; Interesting Program Presented.

A DESSERT-LUNCHEON was enjoyed by 40 members of the Jared Mansfield chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Wittemire, 109 Columbia avenue, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Brinkerhoff Spear, regent, presided at the table. Mrs. Harry Nelson of Springfield was a guest. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Elmer Post, Mrs. B. L. Stiles, Mrs. William Holmes, Mrs Frank B. Ford, Mrs. William Dice, Mrs. William Gifford, Mrs. George Sellers and Mrs. Thomas Banks.

Following the luncheon, the meeting was opened by the reading of scripture and prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Robert W. Jones. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Mrs. Arthur E. Courtney. The chaplain urged the members to remember the noon prayer time each day, when the entire membership in the nation is joining its prayers for peace. During the business session a gift was voted to the local Community War Chest campaign. A letter was read from Elizabeth Ackerman, (A.S.U.S.N.R.), telling of some of the activities in the training school for WAVES at Stillwater, Okla. It was announced by Mrs. H. L. Ackerman, state secretary, that the National D. A. R. Congress would be held in Cincinnati this year due to the crowded conditions in Washington, D. C.

Miss Cloude Blake, chapter national defense chairman told of the national defense material she had displayed at the Mansfield Senior high school. She also presented the plan for the sale of bonds by Mansfield women to buy a bomber. The chapter voted to enter the contest. Ellis Island, the program topic for the afternoon, was presented by Mrs H. C. Brubaker, chairman of the chapter committee on Ellis Island The D A. R is assisting the work at the U S Marine hospital on the island, which is occupied with mental cases due to the strain of the present war Mrs Brubaker stressed the need of materials for these men to use in the occupational therapy department Being unable to secure an educational film of Ellis Island Mrs Brubaker presented a paper from the state Filming and Lending Bureau, which enumerated many emigrants who had become outstanding citizens of the United States.

The Dec. 4 meeting will be a buffet supper at 6 p. m at the home of Mrs A. C Tuttle, 73 Sherman avenue.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS.

Mrs. Guy Kaufman, Woodville road, entertained 12 members of the Wayside Bible class at her home recently. Mrs. R E Snyder was in charge of the business session and devotions were given by Mrs Pauline McFarland Mrs E. A Conant gave the lesson topic. On Nov 17 the class will meet with Mrs. Carl McFarland.

Organ Recital to Be Given Sunday By Miss Zehner

The first in a series of five organ recitals to be given by Miss Mabel Zehner this fall and winter is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The program will be given in the First Presbyterian church with Mrs. Mary Troll Anglin, contralto, assisting Miss Zehner.

Two choral improvisations, 'Now Thank We All Our God," and "O World, I E'en Must Leave You," by Karg-Elert, will open the program. Other selections by Miss Zehner will be "Prelude and Fugue In A Minor," by Bach; Intermezzo from the "Sixth Symphony," by Widor; "To An American Soldier," by Thompson; "Hymn of Glory," by Yon; "The Rosary," by Nevin; "The Bee," by Schubert; and a caprice. "The Brook," by Dethier.

Mrs. Anglin, accompanied by Miss Zehner, will sing, "O Rest In the Lord," from "Elijah," by Mendelssohn; "Tears of God," by Mowrey; "Lamb of God," by Biet; "Amour, Viens Aide Ma Saiblesse," by Saint-Saens; "A Quaint Old Quilt," by Bodycombe; and "The Cry of Rachel," by Salter.

HOROSCOPE

FOR SUNDAY, NOV. 8

Sunday's horoscope is an especially favorable and happy one for all cultural, artistic, domestic and social affairs and also promises much of an affectional nature, with the emphasis placed on these rather than any kind of workaday engagements. These are not under fortunate rule.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an active and pleasant year in all their domestic, social and affectional affiliations rather than in more commonplace duties. However, all those matters concerning art, music or other cultural expression may be lively, but in public or business matters be sure to be discreet.

A child born on this day should be particularly artistic, musical and cultured. While kindly, friendly and personally popular it may be impetuous in emotions.

FOR MONDAY, NOV. 9

Monday's astrological augury is excellent for forging ahead to the highest of goals, with many phases of growth, expansion, and with enhanced prestige and personal as well as business popularity. Those in influential places will be friendly, although some impetuosity may prove harmful.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of splendid openings for furthering their highest ambitions and objectives. The influences are expansive, progressive and productive, in personal as well as business aims Subtle or intriguing factors may work behind the scenes and a strange or curious situation may arise, in which emotional, erratic or subconscious urges might prove fatal to cherished ideals.

Club Makes Gifts, Elects Officers At Hammer Home

Hostess to the Linnaeus Garden club at her home on Dickson Parkway Friday, was Mrs. Ray Hammer. The members spent the day in the game room making more than 100 packets and fragrant petal jars for shut-ins. These were made from roses and other flower petals gathered by members during the past summer and scented with various sweet-smelling herbs that had been raised in the women's gardens.

A potluck lunch was enjoyed at noon. During the business session the club voted to give $5 to the Community War Chest. Officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. Henry J. Paulson, president; Mrs. Clyde K. Smaltz, vice president; and Mrs. Carl F. Spangler, re-elected secretary-treasurer. The club will meet again on Nov. 20 at the Hammer home to pack the Sailor Hospital bags which the members have made. These will be filled and the gifts will be delivered to shut-ins.

Meeting Held by Lodge Executives

Miss Mildred Burdett, civilian defense chairman of the Women of the Moose, spoke on the war bond contest for Richland county club women, when the executive board and committee chairmen of her organization met at the lodge home last night. Mrs. Helen Perry, senior regent, had charge of the meeting. On Nov. 11, there will be a special meeting of all members at the Moose home. Miss Burdett will again be the speaker.

There will be a Christmas party in honor of new candidates on Dec. 7. In charge of the affair will be the hospital guild and war relief committees of which Mrs. Opal Stentz and Mrs. Haxel Tupps are chairmen. The next regular meeting will be held on Dec. 4.

Panel Discussion Presented As Program for P. T. A. Unit

When the Johnny Appleseed Parent-Teacher association met at the school Thursday evening, a panel discussion on "The Community and the War Effort" was held with R. Y. Davis as moderator. Nelson Neff, who told about rationing, pointed out that the program is under federal jurisdiction and that volunteer workers are needed. He defined rationing as "A sacrificing equally of all people, which will require patience and full support."

Glenn Marriott explained civilian defense as "A preparation for things that can happen here." It is necessary to avoid hysteria and confusion in an emergency, and Mr. Marriott urged that Red Cross, and work of that kind, should be stimulated. Mrs. H. Lime, whose topic was "Consumer Interest," said that it concerns keeping the family physically fit. She explained that the consumer must be educated and that the two information centers in Mansfield are the Ohio Public Service company and the Ohio Fuel Gas company. She urged people to "buy only necessities."

Paul Eliot stated that the wage earners are financing this war, instead of individuals, as in the last war. He said that not enough war bonds and stamps are being sold in this city and if it is not done voluntarily, the government will make the purchases compulsory.

"The War Efforts of the Schools" was the topic discussed by Glenn Rohleder. He told the group that from the executives to the smallest children, there is 100 per cent interest and loyalty. He stressed the value of physical fitness programs and combative games in the schools and added that military drill probably will be introduced in the future. At the present time, approximately 100 students are going out from the schools each day to help in homes and thus release persons for war duties. Equipment that is actually being used in the war is being made by boys in the school shops.

During the business session in charge of L. J. Londot, the association contributed $5 to the Community War Chest. Mrs. Eugene Boling, membership chairman, reported that there are 425 paid memberships. A change in procedure of conducting meetings was explained by Ted Lockwood, representative to the Council of Parents and Teachers. Mr. Davis read four resolutions adopted at the state convention in Akron.

Luncheon Meeting Held by W. S. C. S. In Church Rooms

Luncheon was served to 90 members of the Women's Society of Christian Service in the parlors of the Central Methodist church on Thursday. Mrs. L. M. Daugherty and her committee were in charge. Program chairman was Mrs. Louis Rahn. Mrs. Roy Winters gave the devotions, using as her subject, "For Temples of Thy Indwelling."

A trio, comprised of Mrs. John Stout, Mrs. Corson Brower and Mrs. L. A. Ogborn, sang "The Light That Never Fails." Mrs. Roher gave a paper on "Thanksgiving" and a solo, "I Will Lay Me Down In Peace," was sung by Mrs. C. E. Reese. Accompaniment was played by Mrs. H. H. Clingan.

Mrs. E. C. Jenkins presided for the business session. Next meeting of the society will be held on Dec. 3.

Christmas Party Planned by Class

The Ladies' Bible class of the Mayflower Congregational church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Mayme Fankhauser on Harker street. Miss Bertha Zudwitz, vice president, conducted the business session and Mrs. Emil Aderman and Mrs. George Brooks had charge of the program. Prizes in contests were won by Mrs. F. B. Poling, Mrs. Elwyn Owen and Mrs. Della Stull.

Remainder of the evening was spent socially and refreshments were served by the hostess. Plans were made to have a Christmas party and gift exchange at the home of Miss Grace Finical, 424 Springmill street, on Dec. 4. Associate hostesses will be Mrs. C. A. Cole and Mrs. Nina Coe.

* * *

B. AND P. W. CLUB.

Dinner meeting of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club on Nov. 11, will be served at Westbrook country club at 6:30 p. m. The speaker will be Rev. Carl Elder, returned missionary. There will be group singing, and solos by Miss Stella Arras. Miss Grace Bonnell is chairman of the program committee and the hospitality committee is headed by Miss Lucy Spell. Anyone who does not have transportation is asked to be at the court house at 6 o'clock.

* * *

COMMUNITY CLUB.

Eight members of the Koogle Community club and their families were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hart Friday evening. Mrs. Clayton Cole conducted the business session during which decision was made to have a grab bag exchange at the next meeting. Prizes were won by Mrs. Carlton Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Koogle, Miss Marguerite Schwan, Miss Margaret Cole and Gary Balliett. Mr. and Mrs. Koogle will entertain on Dec. 4.

CIRCLE FOUR MEETS

Mrs. R. M. Calene was hostess to Circle Four of the First Presbyterian church at her home on Parkwood boulevard Thursday. Assisting her were Mrs. William McE. Weldon, Mrs. Charles Farry and Mrs. Roy Gale. Mrs. Weldon presided at the table when luncheon was served to 24 members. The group did Christmas sewing and enjoyed a talk on quilts by Mrs. J. W. Leistensnider, who displayed quilts she has made.

BOOK ABOUT MEXICO REVIEWED AT CHURCH

Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff Describes "The Days of Ofelia," By Gertrude Diamant, at First Presbyterian Church Friday.

APPROXIMATELY 250 women heard Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff of Cleveland give an interesting review of Gertrude Diamant's book, "The Days of Ofelia," at the First Presbyterian church Friday afternoon. Mrs. Benninghoff was introduced by Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson, vice president of the Women's Association of the First Congregational church, under whose auspices the reviews are presented.

Highly recommended by critics, "The Days of Ofelia" was described by Mrs. Benninghoff as a book which can be classified as a travel book, because it presents a picture of Mexico; as a novel, because of its story; as a biography, because it tells of Ofelia's life; as a historical account, because according to Parkison, a historian, it presents "the most authentic history of Mexico to come out of that country;" and as poetry, because it is "such a fine piece of writing."

As Dorothy Canfield had said, "There is really no classifying this book. There is no one label to be pinned on it, but there is one statement which can be made about it categorically, namely, that no American of 1942 should miss it."

Altogether, the days of Ofelia are a picture of Mexico to be greatly enjoyed and to be deeply understood, for this book is the straight road to the heart of that mysterious, charming neighbor, Mexico. In introducing the reader to the endurance, laughter, sorrow, effort and hope that is the vital existence of Mexico, Gertrude Diamant presents a knowledge of people and problems.

Ofelia lived with the 12 other members of her family in a hut close to the house where the author took an apartment, on the outskirts of Mexico City. It was Ofelia who showed the foreign visitor the apartment in the first place. And from this 10-year-old child of nature and ancient wisdom, and the rest of the Escato household, Gertrude Diamant learned more of Mexico and its people than from all the intelligence tests she was conscientiously giving to the Otomi Indians.

Going to Mexico merely for a visit, the author was so fascinated with the country and its people that she secured a government job, testing the Indians' intelligence. Thus she was able to live in Mexico City and to gather material for her book.

The third and final review in the series by Mrs. Benninghoff will be given on Dec. 4. She has selected, "The Robe," a religious book by Dr. Lloyd Douglas, for presentation at that time. The book has been highly praised by its reviewers.

First Methodist Society Meets Friday Night

Lucretia Hedges missionary group of the First Methodist church had a meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Mansfield, 54 Sturges avenue. Assisting the hostess were Miss Capitola Kissane and Mrs. W. J. Locke. Following the business session, which was led by Mrs. George Hout, the program chairman, Mrs. Stuart Baird, introduced Miss Nellie McIlvaine who gave the devotions.

Mrs. O. G. Place, president of the W. S. C. S., gave an account of the convention which was held in Shelby and Mrs. Hout reported on the conference at Danville. Guest speaker was Mrs. Earl Kochheiser, whose interesting and informative talk was on "The Royal Family of China."

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. W. Holborn, Mrs. Harold Allen, Mrs. Place and Mrs. Kochheiser. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table decorated with fall appointments. Mrs. Hout and Mrs. Place presided at the table. A joint meeting with the Grace Guild will be held at the church on Dec. 4.

D. of A. Council Meets on Friday

When members of Lady Garfield Council No. 24, Daughters of America, met last evening in the Eagles hall, they heard an interesting talk by Mrs. Parry of the Ohio Public Service company in Cleveland, entitled "Your Home in Wartime." She showed slides to illustrate her comments. Mrs. Julia Grandstaff, councillor, presided for the business session.

The Ashland council has invited Mansfield members to attend a union meeting in that city on Nov. 19. Next regular meeting of the Lady Garfield council will take place on Nov. 20 with members of the state board as guests. The first nomination of officers was held and a social hour was enjoyed. The committee consisted of Mrs. Ethel Gump, Mrs. Elizabeth Croskey, Mrs. Martha Reichert and Mrs. Myrtle Aungst. Everyone is urged to attend the Nov. 20 meeting.

CHAPTER X

"Any day now," the agent kept telling her. It seemed that one producer was out of town for a few days, and with another it was a question of salary. Meanwhile, she must be seen everywhere and be talked about.

"You couldn't stage another fight?" he suggested.

"No, definitely no, Livia said "Okay, okay. I was only asking."

She began to drink a little—not much—but a highball or two was necessary to keep her smiling brightly at two and three in the morning and dancing and talking with animation She wrote out checks with happy abandon, and at first kept careful note of the sums expended She had decided at the beginning that she would allow only two months for her experiment If at the end of that time she had not received a movie offer, she would try some other way of breaking into films.

So she was not worried, and paid the bills as they came It was now the end of the fifth week, and Livia was breakfasting late in bed and reading her morning mail—mostly advertisements from tradesmen.

* * *

One letter caused her to stop eating. It was from the restaurant where she had taken some of her new friends. It contained the check she had given, with a note from the proprietor threatening legal proceedings unless she immediately sent cash in lieu of the check, which had been returned owing to insufficient funds. Livia frantically called the manager of the bank. He was very sorry.

"Your account with us is overdrawn."

"How much?"

It was only $35. But in panic Livia remembered the checks she had paid out yesterday.

"No, they haven't come through yet," she was informed.

"What am I to do?" she asked him.

"I suggest you raise some money quickly, said the bank official—and rang off.

"What am I to do?" Livia asked herself helplessly.

There was Bruce of course. He might help her.

"But I'm not going to him," Livia resolved. He wouldn't say she had been right—that wasn't the way with Bruce. How about her father? Livia laughed bitterly, remembering the human wreck she had last seen sprawling drunkenly in a bar. Vera! She would help gladly.

Livia called her. Vera heard the worry in Livia's strained voice and was alarmed.

"Anything wrong?" she demanded.

"Oh, no," Livia strove to keep the words casual. "I just wanted some more dresses," she said, adding, "Of course, if you haven't the cash handy, that's all right."

"I haven't," Vera said regretfully. "George needed some money for his business He had some bad race debts and—"

Livia put the receiver down slowly The telephone rang immediately She started to answer it, then decided not to. It might be about another returned check She calculated swiftly. The checks given out in the past two days totaled $75 The $35 overdrawn at the bank, and the weekly bill at the hotel would total at least $50 She telephoned those to whom she had given checks.

"I made a mistake," she told them all. "I had discontinued that account I'll be sending you another check today." They were polite and without suspicion.

But where am I to get the money? Livia again asked aloud. Which of her new acquaintances could afford to lend her $250. Ah, the Countess Saskia! Livia had seen the countess several times lately, and the Countess had always been extremely polite and pleasant She was rich. Two hundred and fifty dollars would mean less than nothing to her.

* * *

And then, as though heaven heard her a page boy delivered a letter from the Countess Saskia.

"My dear Miss Wayne," she read "Will you be my guest for the week-end on my yacht? We are going to Catalina. Cal O'Hara will be with us, and hopes as much as I do that you can join us. Try to come—Margaret Saskia." Cal O'Hara! The producer! Her luck was changing.

She telephoned the Countess, who was out, and spoke to her secretary.

"A car will pick you up at 6 this evening," she was told.

"Will Bruce Nolan be along?" Livia asked.

"Possibly. But I don't really know," said the secretary cautiously.

Livia had not seen Bruce since the fight. And she had missed him—more than she would admit.

The Countess was waiting at the top of the gangway steps, her short, squat figure incongruously garbed in wide blue slacks, a reefer coat, and a yachting cap over one eye.

"My dear Miss Wayne, I'm so happy you could join us. How is everything in town?"

Without giving her time to reply, the Countess introduced Cal O'Hara, a pink-faced, thick-necked Irishman, who had been a bouncer in a night club before becoming a producer eight years previously. His pictures had the rugged sawdust quality of the bar-room, and pleased a certain small public, mostly in small towns. He was separated from his wife. He took Livia's hand in a mighty grip and stared appreciatively at her face and figure.

* * *

Livia was relieved when the Countess introduced her to the other members of the party—Orville Rochell, chief "yes" man to O'Hara; Mrs. Rochell, a faded brunet, and a tall, good-looking blond actor, Terry Davidson, who played heroes in "B" pictures and villians in "A's." Bruce had sometimes talked of Terry—in disparaging terms.

The yacht was small, but equipped with the ultimate in comfort and splendor. The Countess conducted Livia to her cabin. The built-in furniture was painted white, the carpets in the cabins and downstairs dining-room were deep blue and thick. The two port-holes in Livia's cabin were open. A strong breeze ruffled the white mesh curtains and stirred the pale blue cover on the bed. There was a tiny bathroom attached, bright with white porcelain and silvered taps.

"And now," said the Countess and sat on the small bed, "where has Bruce been hiding?"

Was this why she had invited her on the yacht—Livia wondered—to get news of Bruce? If she told her the truth, that she hadn't seen or heard of Bruce, would the Countess find an excuse for sending her ashore?

"He's been busy—working."

"Then you haven't seen him either?" said the Countess shrewdly

"Oh, yes," Livia said. "But I've been pretty busy, too, and—" Livia wondered how much the Countess knew of her story. But she could rely on Bruce to keep her secret. She changed the conversation by inquiring, "Do we dress for dinner?" The Countess stood up swaying with the motion of the boat.

"No, not tonight—come on deck when you're ready. There'll be cocktails.

Livia changed into slacks and a sky-blue sweater. The Countess had provided her with a yachting cap. She put it on and smiled into her reflection in the long mirror. The cap emphasized the brightness of her hair.

"I wish Bruce could see me," she thought. But she mustn't think of Bruce now. Squaring her slim shoulders, she went upstairs.

"Here, you'd better have a coat," O'Hara said. "It's getting chilly." He helped her into a thick reefer. His hands stayed caressingly on her shoulders Livia moved gently away and pretended interest in another yacht they were passing. The wind bulged the white sails of their craft, and they glided smoothly through the water.

Livia sipped her cocktail and felt happy for no particular reason—or perhaps it was just the sea and wind that made her feel that the world was hers. If only Bruce was here. Why had he avoided her these past weeks?

"I feel awful," said Mrs. Rochelle suddenly. Her husband glared at her.

"You don't mind the swell?" O'Hara came next to Livia.

"I love it."

"A pretty girl like you, Miss Wayne, should be in pictures," Livia smiled eagerly. Then remembered her role.

"Pictures?" she said laughingly. "Oh, you mean motion pictures?" And now she became very confidential. "I'd like to, you know—just for the thrill. But my family won't hear of it." A flicker of sadness touched Livia. It was partly true. Her mother had hated her movie work. O'Hara watched her closely.

"Not feeling so good?" he said sympathetically. The Countess fluttered over her.

"All the women on board feel sick. Isn't that funny? Me, I love it. The sea can't be too rough for me." Her words irritated Livia.

"I feel all right," she said—and surprised a fleeting glance of dislike in the Countess' eyes.

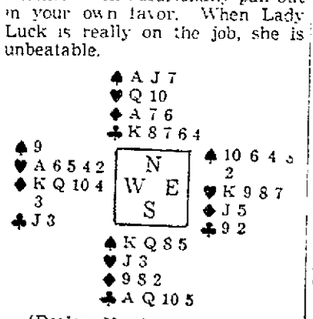
"The Authority on Authorities"

PROFITS FROM ERRORS

When you are lucky, even your errors may pay you profits. On some deals, the very soundest bidding and play would get you nowhere in particular, but some bizarre mistake can produce rich dividends. Even such things as slips of the tongue — naming one suit when you mean to be bidding another—will occasionally pan out in your own favor. When Lady Luck is really on the job, she is unbeatable.



(Dealer: North Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♦
3 NT

When North quickly sorted his hand, his spade A must have been more or less stuck to some other card, because he didn't see it. All he noticed, in honor strength, was the diamond A, club K, heart Q, spade J and heart 10—exactly an average hand and not enough to bid. So he passed.

South had his hand sorted all right, and opened the bidding. He swore by all the fates that he had bid 1-Spade, but everybody else heard him say 1-Heart. Just see what his misnomer did to the rest of the bidding. It, of course, kept West from bidding the suit. It also caused North to think his side had a pretty good situation for No Trumps, especially since he had rearranged his cards and suddenly discovered the spade A. Realizing he had passed a good opening bid, he took no chances, but jumped all the way into game at No Trumps.

East, as was to be expected, led the J of his partner's diamonds, whereupon North ran ten consecutive tricks. Thus a pair, in which each member made a bad mistake during the bidding period, got a game from a deal which did not contain a game.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Right you are," Dicky agreed "Come along!"

He ushered me into the bedroom, where Dr. Twitchell sat relaxed in an easy chair, his mind evidently at rest about his patients, and as he rose Dicky gave him my father's message.

"I'll go there as soon as I've looked these people over again," he said, "although I really do not need to do any more inspecting."

He took Mary's pulse and listened to her breathing, then lifted her eyelid to look at the pupil. Then he repeated the process with Noel.

"Absolutely 100 per cent," he said.

"What should we do when they waken?" I asked.

"Give them some hot coffee or tea and some very light food."

"Will they know they've been drugged, and if they don't, ought we to tell them?"

"No, to the first question," he said. "They'll simply wonder how they became so sleepy in so short a time. As to the second question—well, I think that is one for your father to decide.

"Thank you," I said. "Please tell father we shall stay right here until his return."

"What's your reaction to all this, old girl?" Dicky asked after he had gone.

"I haven't any," I told him. "I'm simply bewildered."

Good Acting.

"Milner put on a good act, didn't he?"

"Yes, indeed; but his shifty-eyed friend was equally convincing."

"He's a good actor, too, that lad," Dicky commented, "and Milner seems convinced that he got away with everything, although Veritzen and Dad made him feel like a poisoned pup before they got through with him. But you know who put on the best show of all, don't you?"

"Father?" I ventured.

"Of course. He made Milner believe positively taht he had swallowed that practical joke yarn hook, line and sinker. So now Milner feels free to go on with his various activities without any fear of espionage."

"Which is just what father wants him to do," I said.

"Exactly," Dicky agreed. "But I think Dad will have a harder nut to crack when he asks old Phil to let things stay as they are.

Veritzen Quiet.

"When that arrogant old lad learns about Noel socking Redfield, and the provocation he had, also about the subversive activities of both Redfield and Milner, and the role Mary had to play in spying on Steve, I'm afraid he'll rear right up on his hind laigs and refuse to let anybody put a bridle on him."

"I agree with you," I said dolefully. But when, a half hour later, my father and Philip came around to my outside sitting room door, so as not to disturb Noel and Mary, Dicky mirthfully whispered, at sight of the impresario's face: "Not only bridled, but saddled."

Choking back the inclination to laugh which Dicky's quips always give me, I saw in my old friend's face the excitement and interest my father can always arouse.

But for a moment his anxiety as a father triumphed over every other consideration, as he asked:

"How are Noel and Mary?"

Simpson Defends Junior High Grid Title With 45-0 Win

Rams Swamp Mt. Gilead By 53-26 Score

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Members of Mansfield's defunct Downtown Coaches association may be just a little embarrassed by the conclusions drawn by Bill McKee in the Ashland Times-Gazette as to the reasons why that organization died out this year.

McKee, reporting that there have been attempts to organize a Booster club in Ashland, frowned on by Ashland school officials, says:

"There have been several such organizations hereabouts, but they have expired, gracefully or otherwise. Mansfield had a big lusty one. Galion had one that whooped it up. Mt. Vernon had one. But try and find them now.

* * *

"Boosters' clubs in most instances follow, rather than lead. They come into being, it seems, when there isn't much reason for them, and they cut a wide swath while the home team is doing likewise. When the home team slips back, the interest is gone and the boosters do no boosting. They quit right when their services are needed most, if they ever actually are needed.

"That one at Massillon goes on and on, but it has never had to face adversity. On the history of others, it isn't likely that it could survive if the Tigers ever hit the skids and remained down for some years, a condition which isn't likely as long as high school football is played."

* * *

This indictment of Boosters' clubs as fair-weather friends might appear true on the surface. However, it takes a little looking into in particular cases.

* * *

Decision to abandon the Mansfield Downtown Coaches association was reached, so I've been told, before school opened this fall, before a football game was played, and before anyone could make a good guess on whether or not the Tygers would have a good season.

It wasn't a question of the football fortunes of the Tygers, but the fear that the association's chances of successful operation in war time with so many more important activities going on, that led to the demise of the Downtown Coaches.

* * *

And in Mt. Vernon, I remember reading, Booster club leaders were too busy in war work activity to spend the usual time on schoolboy sports, and that group also died before the first game.

In spite of the good work which the Downtown Coaches did here, and the cooperation which the association always gladly gave the high school in the promotion of school activities, I sometimes felt that a well-organized "M" association of former Mansfield high school athletes would have proven more successful.

Their interest should be more long lasting and their association with the school closer than an organization of fans generally. Fan interest naturally rises and falls with the fortunes of the team the fan is supporting. There's nothing unusual in that.

* * *

But the success of any organization will always depend on the enthusiasm and effort of its leaders.

Robinson Scores Easy Victory

NEW YORK — (AP) — Having come out of his second invasion of the middleweight division with an easy victory over Vic Dellicurti, welterweight Ray Robinson agreed today to two more fights this year—one in his own class and one in 160-pound competition.

* * *

The first of these will be Dec. 1, a return match between Izzy Jannazzo of Brooklyn, whom Robinson outpointed recently in Philadelphia.

* * *

The other will be in Philadelphia, Dec. 14, probably against Jose Basora, a sharp punching Puerto Rican middleweight.

Robinson weighed 144½ to Dellicurti's 153¾.

Hammer Bows Out on Five Touchdowns

Visitors Score 20 Points After Madison First Team Leaves Field

MADISON RAMS staged a track meet in football uniforms last night out on Ram hill, piling up a 53 to 26 victory over Mt. Gilead in the final game of a brilliant season.

Little Harold Hammer, wiry 126-pound field general of the Rams, playing his last game for Madison high, bowed out in a blaze of glory, romping for five touchdowns, scoring one extra point, and passing to Gross for two extra points to run his scoring total for the night to 33 points.

Mt. Gilead was tough for the first quarter when it came charging back to score on the Madison first team after the Rams had chalked up their first marker. But the Mounts had to wait until the second stringers were on the field in the third period to run up the rest of their points.

* * *

Brilliant open field running and blocking was the keynote of the evening for Coach Al Fendrick's boys, and nearly all the Madison markers were made on long, dazzling runs.

* * *

Madison took the ball on the first kickoff on its 35 and went for a touchdown. Hammer scoring on a 60-yard run after taking a lateral from Wynn who faked a plunge into the line. Hammer passed to Gross for the point.

Mt. Gilead scored after the next kickoff on a sustained drive of 60 yards, with Lee getting the touchdown on a nine-yard pass from Tennant. The try for point failed and Madison led 7-6.

Late in the first quarter, Madison blocked a Tennant punt in midfield, and Anthony broke away for a 30-yard jaunt to the visitors' 20. On the next play Hammer crossed the goal on a wide sweep and it was 13-6.

Madison pulled a little razzle-dazzle on the Mounts in the second period. Hammer intercepted a pass by Bletzacker, reversed his field twice and then lateralled to Wynn who carried the ball 50 yards to Mt. Gilead's 30. But the play was called back and Madison was penalized to its one-yard line. This was merely the signal for a 99-yard touchdown march. Bader and Hammer made a first down on the 29, and Anthony broke away for a 71-yard touchdown run. Hammer went around end for the point and it was 20-6.

* * *

Hammer scored the next touchdown on a 75-yard run behind perfect interference by Dick Bader, who plunged for the extra point, and it was 27-6.

* * *

Willie Wynn got the next score on a 50-yard dash off tackle and it was 33-6 at the half.

The Rams were still rolling in the third period as Bob Anthony tallied on a 30-yard run from a Statue of Liberty play, making it 39-6. Hammer scored on a 5-yard sweep and passed to Gross for the point, bringing the count to 46-6.

Hammer's last touchdown was a spectacular 50-yard jaunt on which he reversed his field, the width of the field, three times. Bader plunged for the point and it was 53-6.

* * *

With Madison reserves on the field Mt. Gilead staged a 55-yard march with Bletzacker scoring on a three-yard plunge, and it was 53-12 at the end of the third quarter.

Bletzacker scored again in the fourth quarter on a three-yard plunge and Giffin plunged for point. And Mt. Gilead wound up the scoring with a 45-yard pass play, Tennant to Flavin for the final touchdown. Braden booted the extra point.

MT. GILEAD	POS.	MADISON

Mt. Gilead scoring — Touchdowns: Lee, Bletzacher 2, Flavin; extra points, Giffin, Braden.

Madison scoring—Touchdowns: Hammer 5, Anthony 2, Wynn. Extra points: Hammer, Gross 2, Bader 2.

Pitt Injuries Spoil Contest

Panthers Face Bucks With Crippled Team.

By JOHN H. COLBURN

COLUMBUS —(AP)— An injury-plagued Pittsburgh football eleven meets Ohio State today with Panther hopes of an upset riding on luck rather than ability.

* * *

Injuries will keep six of the Panther regulars on the sidelines against the Bucks, who are geared to demonstrate before 35,000 of more fans that they can "come back" after last week's loss to Wisconsin which toppled them from national leadership.

* * *

While Ohio will start the same backfield that took the field against Wisconsin, Coach Paul Brown indicated he would give Tommy James and George Slusser, two of his former Massillon high pupils, an opportunity to display their offensive punch.

James is being groomed as a runner who is a constant touchdown threat, while Slusser will lead the Buck passing attack. Both fit into the left halfback spot occupied by the hard-driving Paul Sarringhaus of Hamilton, who still is handicapped some by the use of contact lens.

* * *

Don Steinberg of Toledo and Don McCafferty of Cleveland will be the only new faces in the Buck starting lineup, opening at the left end and tackle posts, respectively. Steinberg will replace the injured Bill Sedor, while McCafferty beat out William Willis, who has been slowed up by a lame leg.

* * *

Ohio and Pitt have met seven times, Ohio winning three and tying one game.

Editors Take First Place

Four Teams Deadlocked For Second Position.

Editors scored a 3-0 victory to take first place in the Moose bowling league standings last night at Colony alleys by a one game margin over four teams tied for second place.

Lemunyon took scoring honors with a 621 series on games of 200-226-195, while Altman had 616 including a 246 game, and Miles 615 with a 252 game.

Buckeye Frosh Win Handily

Phillips Passes, Groza Boots Field Goals.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio State football fans yesterday got a preview—and a favorable one—of the talent coming up for next year's varsity should the war permit continuance of the intercollegiate gridiron sport.

With Tommy Phillips of Berea hurling sharp passes, Russell Wolfe of Upper Sandusky spinning and shifting on nice runs and Joe Whisler of Willard pounding the opposing line the Buck frosh beat Pittsburgh's Freshmen 18 to 7.

It was the first time Ohio State ever had put a freshmen team on the field for a regular contest and 2,298 fans saw plenty of Buck punch in the tilt at Ohio stadium.

* * *

Phillips' passes were right on the beam to his receivers and only one was intercepted, that by an Ohioan, George Watson of Hubbard. He ran it back for 46 yards and almost got away for a touchdown.

* * *

Whisler contributed Ohio's longest scoring run, breaking over center and weaving his way for 31 yards in the first period to open the scoring. Sub End Henry Parman of Dayton got the other touchdown in the last period by running 15 yards after taking a 10-yard pass from Tom Jeffries of Youngstown.

Louis Groza, the Martins Ferry place-kicking star, gave the Buck fans something to cheer about when he booted field goals from the 18 and 38-yard lines to account for six Ohio points.

Frank Knisley of Youngstown, Pittsburgh starting fullback, suffered a broken left arm on the third play of the game.

Reserve Wins Over Ohio U.

Red Cats Down Fekete And Company 20 to 7.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A brilliant ground and air offensive demonstration, by which Western Reserve handed the second defeat of the season to Ohio university, served as a prelude to today's 21-game program involving Ohio college football teams.

Scoring in every period except the third, Reserve downed John Fekete and Co., 20 to 7, in Cleveland last night. It was the fourth straight win for the Red Cats.

* * *

* * *

The Red Cats scored in the first period on a combination of running plays and passes by Bill DeWalt, in the second on three passes by Warren Lahr and in the fourth on running plays.

In the only other game last night, Capital university dropped a 24-14 decision to the Miami University Naval Radio Cadets at Hamilton. Paul Platz, former Southern California freshman, passed to Halfback Jim Buell for two Cadet touchdowns and ran 32 yards for another.

* * *

Sharing honors with the Ohio State-Pittsburgh clash at Columbus today is the meeting of Denison and Wooster at Wooster, with Denison's leadership in the Ohio conference at stake. The game is a renewal of the state's oldest football rivalry.

* * *

Games today:

Pittsburgh at Ohio State; Findlay at Otterbein; Mt. Union at Ohio Northern; Baldwin Wallace at Case; Denison at Wooster; Wittenberg at Bowling Green; Toledo at Butler; Marshall at Xavier; Akron at Wayne; Miami at Ohio Wesleyan; Oberlin at Allegheny; Wabash at Kenyon; Elmhurst (Ill.) at Heidelberg; Kent State at Hiram; Wilberforce at Kentucky State college; Youngstown at Geneva college; Cincinnati at Tennessee; Chattanooga at Dayton; Defiance at Bluffton; Rio Grande at Marietta; Muskingum at Washington & Jefferson.

Tyger Gridiron Mentor Ill

Snyder Unable to Make Canton McKinley Trip.

Mansfield high school Tygers left for Canton and their annual gridiron battle with Canton McKinley Bulldogs today without their coach, Paul Snyder.

The Mansfield mentor has been ill for several days with influenza and was ordered to stay in bed by his physician. The Tygers will be under the direction of Vern Hoffman, backfield coach, who announced he would start the regular lineup, and that all of the Tygers appeared in good condition last night.

* * *

Mansfield opponents of this season met with varying fortunes last night. Two of them tangled in one game with Sandusky and Akron West playing a 7-7 tie.

* * *

Springfield could get no better than a scoreless tie with Columbus East, but Niles chalked up its sixth straight victory with a 12-6 win over Warren. And Elyria turned back Middletown 20-12.

In other games of interest in the Mansfield area, Crestline lost to Fremont St. Joseph 6-7, and Bucyrus was defeated by Lima South 0-6. And New London broke its long losing streak with a 19-0 victory over Wellington.

Four Tie for League Lead

Close Race Staged In Women's A-Loop.

Four teams are tied for first place in the women's Commercial "A" bowling league, with only a one-game margin over the next two teams.

Hazel Altman took top scoring honors in the league Thursday night with a 558 total, while Mary McMullen had 546 and Eva Imler 529, Donna Schuster 516 and Ev Jocha 501.

Mary McMullen had high game of 205, and Hazel Hilborn had a 203 game.

LUCAS HEADS TOWARD NEW SCORING RECORD

PAULDING —(INS)— Although he is but a junior, Bob Lucas, Paulding high school fullback, today was pointing towards some sort of gridiron record.

Young Lucas scored 53 points when his team dumped the nearby Elida high school eleven, 62-0, boosting his year's total to 271. His three-year record is 468.

Big Game Has Sellout Crowd

Irish and Army Pack Yankee Stadium Seats.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK —(AP)— New York City, which prides itself on its indifference unless the event is something important is all worked up today in its role as a host to a trio of football games.

Everyone of the 76,000 seats in Yankee Stadium has been sold for the twenty-ninth meeting between Notre Dame and Army in which the Irish are 3 to 1 favorites.

Just across the river in the Polo grounds, Fordham and Louisiana State mix before a throng of 18,000 and a similar crowd is expected to shuffle all the way to the northern tip of Manhattan Island for Columbia's rouser with Colgate.

* * *

While all this is going on in the nation's metropolis, Wisconsin and Georgia Tech will be defending unblemished records against rugged foes in their own communities.

The Badgers, Big Ten leaders and winners a week ago over Ohio State, are at Iowa City for the Hawkeyes' home coming in what may be Wisconsin's toughest game. The Iowans have the heaviest line in the Big Ten and an attack built around the passing of Tom Farmer.

Kentucky is Georgia Tech's foe and the Wildcats have prepared for the struggle by losing, 7 to 6, to Georgia and dropping a 14 to 0 decision to Alabama.

Michigan's two teams participate in a pair of intersectional games, the University entertaining a weakened Harvard outfit and the State College Spartans treking all the way to the west coast for a meeting with Washington State.

* * *

Otherwise in the midwest, Missouri is at Nebraska for a game that likely will determine the Big Ten champion, Indiana is at Minnesota, Illinois is host to Northwestern and Ohio State hopes to get back on the winning path at the expense of Pittsburgh.

The Iowa Pre-Flighters and Fort Knox meet at Louisville and Great Lakes collides with a Purdue eleven that has been able to get only 21 points in six games.

Georgia, which bounded over the Alabama hurdle last Saturday, has T-minded Florida as its opposition while the Crimson tide is busy with South Carolina. Unpredictable Tulane takes on Mississipi State. Mississippi is at Vanderbilt and Auburn tests the Georgia Pre-Flight combination.

Orlie Grable Hits 659 In Westie-D

Orlie Grable ratted the maples for a 659 total for top honors in the Westinghouse "D" bowling league at Colony alleys last night, and had high game of 255.

Bulldogs Roll From First Play of Game

Otto Schmidt, Ollie Cline and George Thomas Each Tally Twice

JOHN SIMPSON'S BULLDOGS, winding up the most successful season in their football history, rolled to an easy 45 to 0 victory over Johnny Appleseed's Pioneers at Stadium field last night to defend the championship Coach Bob DeHaven's boys have held now for three years.

Scoring on the first play on which they handled the ball, the Bulldogs were away to the races, tramping over the goal line in every period.

The hard charging Simpson line and fleet-footed, nimble stepping backs just weren't to be stopped last night, and the game early turned into a rout.

But they were stopped once in the second quarter, and for that one display of fighting spirit, Appleseed could still hold its head high today. Simpson failed to score on that occasion after getting a first down on the Pioneer four-yard line, being halted on the one-yard mark.

Otto Schmidt put the Simpson machine in motion with a pair of lightning touchdowns in the first quarter. After Ollie Cline kicked off over the Appleseed goal line, the Pioneers failed to gain from their 20, and punted to their 35.

And on the first play Otto, brother of the Mansfield high Tygers' Roland Schmidt, took the ball on a reverse and galloped 35 yards for a touchdown. The try for point failed, and it was 6-0.

Just one minute later Cline grabbed a punt on the 50-yard line and raced for a touchdown, but the play was nullified by a penalty on Simpson for roughing the kicker, and Appleseed regained the ball. It was only delaying the score, for Cline returned another punt 30 yards to the Appleseed 23, and Otto Schmidt scored from there on another reverse. Thomas kicked the point and it was 13-0 at the quarter.

Simpson scored only once in the second quarter as the Appleseed defense stiffened. The Bulldogs marched 30 yards for a touchdown, scored by George Thomas on a break off tackle, and Thomas passed to Cline for the extra point, making it 20-0 at the half.

* * *

Thomas scored again early in the third period when he took a punt on the 50, reversed his field, and ran for a touchdown behind some excellent open field blocking. Simpson missed the try for extra point on a 15-yard penalty for holding.

* * *

On the next kickoff Simpson recovered an Appleseed fumble and marched 35 yards to score, with Thomas and Woodberry lugging the leather. Thomas plunged for the score from three yards out, and Paul Schmidt kicked the extra point to bring the score to 33-0.

Simpson scored twice in the last period on drives of 46 and 60 yards, Cline getting both touchdowns on end runs from the ten and three-yard marks.

Simpson touchdowns: O. Schmidt 2, Thomas 2, Cline 2. Extra points: Thomas, Cline, P. Schmidt.

Simpson subs: Woodberry, P. Schmidt, Morrison, Petroff, Appleseed subs: Sowash, Campbell, Clark, Goodman, Swank.

RETAIN BAND TROPHY

It's getting to be a custom—Simpson wins the football game, Johnny Appleseed the band trophy. Judges decided last night the Pioneer band had retained the trophy awarded a year ago by the Downtown Coaches association on a three year basis. But there was really little to choose between the two bands as they competed between halves of the junior high football game.

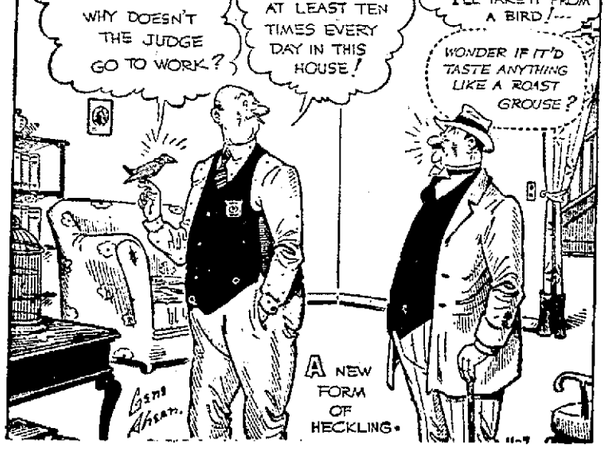
JUDGE PUFFLE— By Gene Ahern



WHY DOESN'T THE JUDGE GO TO WORK?
WHY DOESN'T THE JUDGE GO TO WORK?
---BUT I TELL YOU I DIDN'T TEACH IT TO HIM!--- IT'S A LINE HE HEARS AT LEAST TEN TIMES EVERY DAY IN THIS HOUSE!
IT'S BAD ENOUGH TO BE INSULTED BY THE PEOPLE HERE,--- BUT I'LL BE HANGED IF I'LL TAKE IT FROM A BIRD!---
WONDER IF IT'D TASTE ANYTHING LIKE A ROAST GROUSE?
A NEW FORM OF HECKLING.

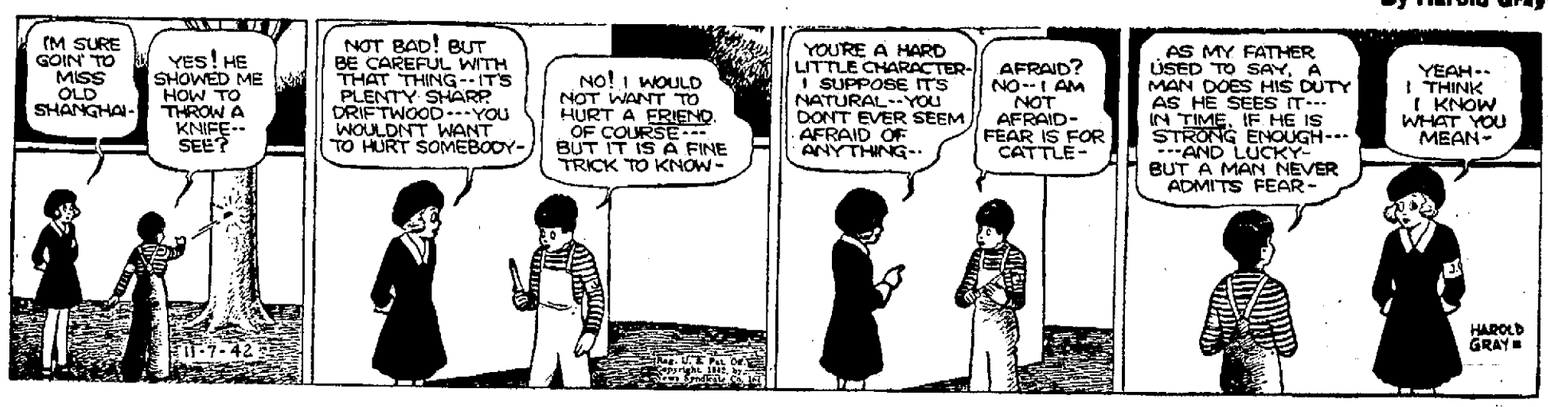
AQUARIUM HIT

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Steinhart Aquarium in Golden Gate park, the second most important in the United States after Chicago, has fallen on evil ways financially.

Owing to inadequate appropriations and the ever war-increasing cost of fish food, the aquarium recently had to sell one of its best seals in order that the other fish might live.

The biggest jump in U. S. population was in the decade, 1920-1930, with an increase of 17 million.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE— Learn and Live. By Harold Gray



I'M SURE GOIN' TO MISS OLD SHANGHAI-
YES! HE SHOWED ME HOW TO THROW A KNIFE-- SEE?
11-7-42
NOT BAD! BUT BE CAREFUL WITH THAT THING--IT'S PLENTY SHARP DRIFTWOOD---YOU WOULDN'T WANT TO HURT SOMEBODY-
NO! I WOULD NOT WANT TO HURT A FRIEND. OF COURSE--- BUT IT IS A FINE TRICK TO KNOW-
YOU'RE A HARD LITTLE CHARACTER- I SUPPOSE IT'S NATURAL--YOU DON'T EVER SEEM AFRAID OF ANYTHING--
AFRAID? NO--I AM NOT AFRAID- FEAR IS FOR CATTLE-
AS MY FATHER USED TO SAY, A MAN DOES HIS DUTY AS HE SEES IT--- IN TIME, IF HE IS STRONG ENOUGH--- ---AND LUCKY- BUT A MAN NEVER ADMITS FEAR-
YEAH-- I THINK I KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN-

HE'S ALL IN TOO-- I WARNED HIM NOT TO PLAY AFTER DOING DESK WORK FOR MONTHS
THESE MEN! YOU'D THINK IT WAS AGAINST THE LAW FOR THEM TO LISTEN TO THEIR WIVES
DARN THE LUCK- I WANTED TO JOIN THE LUNDINS AT LUNCH
WELL, THE GENERAL WASN'T THERE EITHER-- THE HANDBALL NEARLY KNOCKED HIM OUT, TOO
HAW! HAW! HAW! MAYBE THAT WILL TEACH HIM TO ACT HIS AGE
WELL, LOOK WHO'S TALKING!

MARKET RALLY EXTENDED ON EARLY TRADES

Steel Industry Beats All Records For Output During October.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market extended its rally by fractions in today's early dealings.

On the upside at an active opening were N. Y. Central, Anaconda, American Telephone, Jones & Laughlin, North American, U. S. Rubber preferred, American Can and Goodyear.

On the side of steel company securities was the compilation of the American Iron & Steel Institute disclosing that the industry shattered all records for output by nearly 200,000 tons in October. Production aggregated 7,584,864 net tons of ingots and steel for castings.

Notice was taken of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association survey estimating both production and new orders in this field during the week ended Oct. 31 were under the corresponding period a year ago and below the preceding 1942 week.

GIVES DETAILS ON AXIS ROUT

Ariet division held the British southern flank.

In the corner salient on the north around Sidi Aba El Rahman, the 19th Axis light division, which only recently had come into the battle, tried to advance along the coast road.

The German line was broken in two places, 10 and 15 miles south of the coast. This cut enemy supply lines around the Alexandria-Matruh railroad and enabled British tanks to get through Rommel's remaining screen of 88 MM. guns and start wrecking the enemy's rear.

As the British cut through the enemy's armor and mine screen they cut off Italian forces in the south, where they are now being cleared up.

The 19th light division, which had taken a terrific pounding trying to stem the Australian advance along the coast, now joined up with remnants of the 15th and 21st Axis armored divisions.

They tried to protect the rear guard of the retreating columns of enemy transport, trucks, troops and anti-aircraft guns, which were being pounded in relays by Allied planes.

These Axis divisions, or what was left of them, had a full job taking care of themselves, as British superior armed forces got to them.

Some Axis tank groups ran out of gasoline. Their crews jumped out, set their tanks on fire and surrendered. There were many minor pitched battles between Axis tanks and Shermans, Lees, Grants, Crusaders, and Valentines, supported by mobile artillery.

Hundreds of German and Italian tanks littered the battle field. It looked as though a sudden wave of flame had swept the desert and seared every tank, truck, armored car, oil dump, repair section, artillery post and landing ground in its path.

Our tanks, especially the new American made Shermans, were far superior to the Germans' best. They have superlative armor and excellent gunpower, which enabled them to fight long range battles with heavily armored tanks which previously had been able to stand off and smash British tanks with their two-pounders. The two-pounder's effective range was 800 yards. The Sherman's guns far outclass them.

The power of all British guns were enormous, and they were of the best quality, giving up quantitative and qualitative superiority in cannon.

The debacle, once started, was swiftly overwhelming. Montgomery and his staff seemed in no doubt of it, and did not share the surprise that gripped the Allied world.

RAF BOMBS RIP GENOA IN NIGHT AERIAL ATTACK

British Drive to Shatter Home Morale of Italians, Disrupt Axis Supplies.

It was recalled that when Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell drove the Italians back to Benghaiz in 1940, he said that Italy had been on the verge of quitting the war. Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander and Lieut. Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery now have the Italians on the run in the western desert again, and observers believed the time might be opportune for crushing the Italian home front to such an extent they might quit their Axis partners completely.

In the last raid on Milan, which was bombed for the second time within 24 hours when RAF planes returned at night following a daylight raid, more than 100 Lancasters participated. Eleven planes were lost, and the air ministry said the British losses were small in proportion to the number of planes engaged in the four raids.

The RAF flight to Italy followed a smashing daylight raid yesterday on Osnabruck, the great industrial center in northwest Germany, France and the low countries.

Nazis Report Big Convoy Battle

LONDON —(INS)— Reports of a convoy battle in the eastern Mediterranean were broadcast by the German radio today following earlier assertions that a large number of heavily escorted American and British ships left yesterday with supplies for Malta.

The latest broadcast said:

"Concerning foreign reports of a convoy battle now going on in the eastern Mediterranean, military quarters in Berlin decline to say anything.

"According to these reports, a very strong British convoy from Gibraltar has been put forward."

After the convoy put out, Berlin said, the 33,900-ton British battleship Rodney left the Gibraltar base.

(The Axis reports were entirely unsubstantiated.)

The convoy was said to have been composed of 24 ships flying British and American flags. Accompanying the vessels, it was asserted, were aircraft carriers, large warships, troop transports and tankers.

Axis reports earlier this week claimed 125 Allied warships were observed in the harbor of Gibraltar.

A Vichy news agency dispatch from Algeciras reported that all privately owned barges and small boats at Gibraltar had been requisitioned by British authorities in the past few days. Practice invasion landings were conducted on the beaches, it was added.

The Scandinavian telegraph bureau reported a dispatch from Madrid in which it was said that Gibraltar is being prepared as a base "for offensive operations" of a second front.

YOUTH FOUND DEAD

VAN WERT —(U.P.)— Harry Phillips, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Phillips of Van Wert, was found dead late yesterday along a suburban lane. He had a bullet wound in the head and a 38 caliber pistol lay nearby. Coroner E H Alspaugh did not give a verdict at once.

ASHLAND — Offices in the Ashland county courthouse will be closed Wednesday for Armistice day.

THEATERS

Marine Epic.

A thundering story of America's fighting men who staved off the Japanese invasion for 14 days on Wake Island is unfolded in the Ohio attraction, "Wake Island." Filmed in cooperation with the U. S. Marine Corps the picture depicts how the marines met the sneak attack and how they reacted in the days that followed. Filmed from the viewpoint of the men who fought the battle the production features Brian Donlevy as the officer in command at Wake Island, Robert Preston, Macdonald Carey, Albert Dekker and Walter Abel, John Farrow, Canadian navy officer, directed. The picture will show daily for one week with the exception of Monday when Frankie Masters' stage band appears.

Roaring Story.

Roaring tale of the Pacific coast timberlands, "The Forest Rangers," technicolor feature at the Madison, co-stars Fred MacMurray with Paulette Goddard and Susan Hayward. Forest blaze in natural color as the result of sabotage in the tall timber and MacMurray has the role of a fire-fighting ranger who falls in love with a tenderfoot from the east. Miss Goddard has the latter role and Miss Hayward plays a tomboy lumber mill operator who has an eye for MacMurray herself. Lynne Overman, Eugene Pallette and Albert Dekker are in the cast. "Secret Enemies" is the co-feature. Craig Stevens is starred Homespun Comedy.

A woman mayor and her male police chief furnish the drama and humor in "The Old Homestead," the Park attraction starring the Weaver brothers and Elvira. The latter plays the mayor and Abner is the police chief. Crime runs unabated in their community until Elvira decides to take a trip to the state capital and pose as a crook herself just in order to round up the gang back home. Robert Conway and Maris Wrixon are teamed for romance in the production. "The Falcon Takes Over," with George Sanders and Lynn Bari is the second attraction

STAYS HANGING

Holds Up Execution of Detroiter Convicted of Treason.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Judge Ben Hicks of the U. S. circuit court of appeals today stayed indefinitely the hanging of Max Stephan of Detroit, convicted of treason.

The court is considering Stephan's appeal from the death sentence ordered by U. S. District Judge Arthur Tuttle Stephan was convicted of giving aid and comfort to a German flier who escaped from a Canadian prison camp.

REPORTS 50 COLLEGES CLOSE

NEW YORK —(AP)— The New York Times says that as a result of financial difficulties caused by a widespread loss in student enrollment, 50 of the nation's colleges have closed in the past few months and scores of others are facing bankruptcy.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

False Alarm — Central station firemen responded to a false alarm at 2:40 today turned in from a box at West Fourth and North Walnut streets.

Posts Bond—Arrested on the charge of speeding 70 miles an hour on U. S. Route 42, John W. Yafanaro, South Euclid, posted $16.30 bond and signed an appearance waiver in municipal court yesterday, state highway patrolmen reported today.

More Cows Missing — For the third time within a week, cows have figured in reports coming into the sheriff's office, some being missing, others found. Today J. A. Wheeler, Jackson township, told the officers that two cows, a Jersey and a Guernsey, were missing from his farm.

Speeders Cited — Clarence P. Daum, 156 Wood street, has been cited by Motorcycle Patrolmen Rochft Hout and Earl Korn to appear Wednesday in traffic court on the charge of speeding 40 miles an hour in a restricted West Fourth street zone. Gilbert Harris, Akron, posted bond and waived hearing fololwing his arrest by Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Letuzia on the charge of speeding 70 miles an hour on Park avenue west.

Two Collisions—Alva F. Wharton, 371 Marion avenue, told police his car was damaged when it rammed against a pole not bearing a red warning flag carried on a trailer drawn by the auto of Thomas Gretten, 614 Marion avenue, at Sixth and Diamond streets. Charles Pinkey, 16 Palmer street, reported that his car was damaged by one driven by a hit-skip driver. Autos driven by Juanita Hillman, 16, of 51 Chestnut street, and Harry Wolt, 12 Greenwood avenue, were damaged in a collision on South Main street.

Ditch Tentatively Approved — County commissioners tentatively approved the Bishop-Wolfe ditch, Springfield township, in a continued hearing Friday morning. Since this was a continued hearing, approval of the entire project was not possible since the original petition had been for the lower section of some 1,400 feet, and it was this section that was involved. Another hearing may be held to consider the upper end of the proposed ditch, or the petitioners could volunteer contributions in which case no further hearing would be necessary, commissioners said.
